Fight Against Parker Nomination Resumed In Senate

Robert Wager Says Parker Incapable of Viewing Labor Actions Fairly

SENATOR ON FLOOR

Hastings of Nebraska Talks For Two Hours Against Appointment of Judge

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(UP)—Judge John J. Parker has shown himself "incapable of viewing with sympathy the aspirations of those who are aiming for a better place in the world," Democratic Senator Robert F. Wagner, former New York state supreme court judge told the senate today in opposing Parker's confirmation.

Wagner linked Parker's circuit court decision upholding the anti-union or "yellow dog" contract with his political statement to which Negroes have taken exception.

"They both spring from the same trait of character," the New Yorker said.

"His sympathies naturally flow out to those who are already on top, and he has used the authority of his office and the influence of his opinions to keep them on top and to restrain the strivings of the other whether they be an exploited economic group or a minority racial group."

"He lacks the statescraft necessary to the office he seeks."

Wagner followed Senator Hastings, Republican, Delaware, who spoke for two hours citing the history of union decisions by the supreme court and concluded:

"I resent the effort of laboring men to come here and attempt to control the only independent body left in this country." He urged Parker's confirmation.

SMALL BOYS FACE CHARGE OF MURDER

WEWOKA, Okla., April 30.—(UP)—Whether the state would attempt to discipline two small boys, the eldest 10 years old, for a childish prank which resulted in the death of a three-year-old companion, by charging them with murder, puzzled authorities here today.

The boys—Paul, 8, and Sam Treadwell, 10, sons of a Seminole oil field worker—confessed gasoline spread over the clothing of Kenneth Yaden became ignited and caused his death.

Kenneth, a favorite of the neighborhood, fell screaming and hysterical at the feet of his father Monday night. His clothes were soiled and he died before physicians could be summoned.

The two Treadwell boys were taken to the county jail at Seminole, after the accident. They sobbed with fright while county officers debated the course they should pursue in the case.

EUROPE MAKES PLANS TO HALT MAY DAY RIOTS

Wholesale Arrests Made By Police in Many of Larger Centers

LONDON, April 30.—(UP)—Wholesale arrests and sporadic violence marked the preparation of central Europe today for threatened Communist disturbances on May day.

Hundreds of Communists were arrested in the Balkans as pre-May day outbreaks were reported in United Press dispatches from Poland and Spain. London ordered strong patrols of police to prepare for demonstrations at Hyde Park tomorrow. Berlin had 8000 police in readiness to supervise distinct socialist and Communist parades.

Paris Communists failed to spread the usual pre-May day propaganda but the French government ordered the same strong military patrols that entered the city last year.

The Balkans offered the greatest threat of outbreaks. Several hundred Communists were arrested in Roumania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Jugoslavia. Police, acting under a defense of the realm act at Sofia, arrested 50 Communists charged with subversive propaganda and many other arrests were made in the Bulgarian provinces.

Several Communist leaders were arrested at Bilbao, Spain, charged with inciting a violent Communist uprising and at Lodz in Poland, 12 persons were wounded in an unemployment riot. Austrian Communists and Socialists were given permission to prepare but a quiet May day was expected in Vienna.

NOTORIOUS BANDIT PLACED IN PRISON

AMMAN, Transjordan, April 30.—(UP)—Dardoch, most famous of Arabian brigands, at once the dread and hero of Transjordan, is finally safe behind the bars of Amman prison, awaiting trial for 30 murders and an untold number of other crimes.

For years this grim figure rode hard and struck with fury, appearing with his band where least expected and evading all efforts to capture him. Finally, he was taken, bound and brought to prison by airplane.

Every Bedouin in the land knows the name of Dardoch. It is told of him that as a boy he bought a rifle and wanted to try it out. He looked at him for a target and saw a Bedouin passing. He tried the rifle on the passer-by. It worked.

2 MURDER SUSPECTS RETURNED TO NEVADA

CLEVELAND, O., April 30.—(UP)—Charles J. Culverwell, "two gun sheriff" from Las Vegas, Nev., will leave for the west today with two murder suspects, Joseph Morlock Jr., 25, and Kenneth Carter, 24.

The youths, who have been held in the Cleveland Heights jail for the last 10 days, are charged with the murder of Morlock's father, Joseph sr., former Klondyke gold prospector, and of Herbert E. Hulse, the elder Morlock's partner.

Admitting the killings to officials, the youths will rely on the "law of the west" for freedom. The elder Morlock left them to die on the desert after touring to New Mexico and Cleveland. Hulse was killed accidentally, they maintain.

PRODUCER MARRIES

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 30.—(UP)—Only a few friends attended the quiet wedding of Miss Irene Mayer and David O. Selznick here last night at the beach home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Mayer, prominent motion picture family.

The bride's sister, Edith Mayer Goetz, who only a few weeks ago was married to William Goetz, film executive, was the maid of honor.

Woman Taken Into Custody After Blaze

Arrested on Arson Charge and Held Under Bond of $2000 Today

FOLLOWING the extinguishing of a small fire, which mysteriously started in a closet of the home of Mrs. Tilla Walters, 65, at 1029 North Parton street, yesterday afternoon, Boyd Sleeper, fire marshal, arrested Mrs. Walters and is holding her in the county jail on a charge of arson.

She was arraigned before Justice Kenneth Morrison this morning on the charge and bail of $2000, which she failed to make, was demanded. Her preliminary examination was set for 9 a. m. May 7.

Firemen found coal oil sprinkled in the closet, according to a statement made today by Chief John Luxembourg, who made an investigation as soon as the fire had been extinguished.

The house was damaged to the extent of about $25, it was reported.

MRS. FIELD SEEKS DIVORCE IN RENO

NEW YORK, April 30.—(UP)—The Daily News, in a "righted" article, said today that Mrs. Marshall Field, III, was en route to Reno, Nev., to seek a divorce from the heir to one of the largest fortunes in the United States. She carries with her, according to the Daily News, a settlement that will provide her an income of $1,000,000 a year for life.

Mrs. Field is understood to have left here on the 20th Century Limited. Attempts to reach her attorney, Joseph Truesdale, were unavailing early today.

The Daily News says Mrs. Field, under the settlement, will retain custody of the "four" children—Marshall Jr., 14, Barbara, 11, and Bernice, 6. Incompatibility is given by the newspaper as the cause of the divorce.

STORK IS EXPECTED IN LINDBERGH HOME

NEW YORK, April 30.—(UP)—The United Press confirmed from a trustworthy source today that a child will be born to Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh within the next few weeks.

Mrs. Lindbergh has gone into retirement to await the event, expected within six weeks, and her husband now in Panama will be back in ample time to be present at the event.

Where Mrs. Lindbergh is staying was not revealed but there is reason to believe she is at the home of her parents, Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, in Englewood, N. J.

GREAT BIG HE-MEN IN J. C. MUST GET LICENSE TO STEP WITH HIGH SCHOOL 'INFANTS'

Only yesterday Santa Ana junior collegians were free to flaunt their high school girl friends unchallenged in the arranged gaze of rejected collegiannes. But with the returns of the votes cast Monday, whereby the burning question of high school dates was submitted to popular student opinion, "those days are gone forever."

Santa Ana junior collegians who wish to import high school or other college students to dances, drags and other college social affairs, may do so—with the knowledge and approval of the Associated Students executive board. A student who wishes to bring a high school

ADVERTISING MOST DYNAMIC FORCE IN COMMERCE TODAY

STRESSING the importance of advertising, which he declared was the most dynamic force in commercial life today, and highly commending and complimenting Earl Ruddy and the credit bureau of the Santa Ana Business Men's association, Guy H. Hulse, of St. Louis, secretary and educational director of the National Retail Credit association addressed an interested audience of over 125 persons at a dinner meeting of the Business Men's association at St. Ann's Inn last night.

Hulse, a short statured, friendly faced man, whose address revealed deep study in credit conditions and merchandising problems in America, chose as his subject "Along the Highways of Business," tracing the development of commercial activity from the time of the Phoenicians, through ancient history to the discovery of America, stating that all discovery and development was actuated by desire for new commercial lanes and the desire of individuals to develop commerce.

"This great nation," he built around the trading post, the speaker declared, "our heritage in commerce resulted from the activity of the pioneers in establishing these trading posts. The next step was the retail merchants who sent their representatives down the rivers and into the outlying districts. Then came the general store and from these came the great modern retail stores, such as Marshall-Fields and Bullocks."

"Along with it has come advertising, the most dynamic force in commercial life today. It is the great tool of the retail and the hand-maiden of commercial progress. Advertising has changed the habits of our people and has performed splendid miracles. It has taught us to bathe frequently, to keep our teeth clean. It has elevated the

Fishbein Article Claims Treatment For Cancer Fails

CHICAGO, April 30.—(UP)—Post mortem examinations of 30 cancer patients treated in the Coffey-Humber clinic at San Francisco failed to support hopes that a cure for the disease had been discovered, the American Medical association's Journal said in its current issue today.

Prohibition Agent Accused of Beating Old Crippled Man

SACRAMENTO, April 30.—(UP)—An investigation began today in reports that an aged and crippled man was beaten last night in Sonoma by a prohibition agent who was disgruntled at failing to find evidence.

Charles Shea, cripple, proprietor of a store at Sonoma, was alleged to have been beaten by H. N. Hobard, the agent, after Shea remonstrated against a raid in which Hobard participated. Shea was taken to Sonoma hospital. Hobard said that Shea attempted to smash a bottle when the raiders entered the store, and that in the struggle which followed Shea's nose was cut by shattered glass.

At the same time, agents were seizing a 750-gallon still in the Mark West Springs district near Santa Rosa. A smaller still was also taken, with 45,000 gallons of mash, 1000 gallons of alcohol and 100 sacks of sugar.

Chambers To Aid In Final Cleanup Work

Supervisor Goode Will Release Population Results at Dinner

WITH THE exception of two beach cities the census in all communities of Orange and Riverside counties will be completed today, paving the way for the final cleanup drive which will be launched at once to make sure that every resident in the two counties is enumerated.

Within a day or two the enumerators will complete their work in all cities according to an announcement by Stanley Goode, census supervisor for Orange and Riverside counties. The two communities in which the census probably will take a little longer are Newport Beach and Laguna Beach.

One week from today Goode hopes to announce population totals for every incorporated city in the two counties. Totals for each city will be released simultaneously.

In the final cleanup chambers of commerce will co-operate in bringing onto the records every name which has not been counted. Today the Register is publishing a blank form and Goode requested that everyone who has not been counted fill out this form and mail it to his headquarters, addressed to Stanley Goode, Supervisor, 20th district, 312 West Third street, Santa Ana, Calif.

On Friday morning the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce will launch an intensive telephone campaign in which every subscriber in the directory will be called. Subscribers will be asked if they have been counted and, if they have not, the information will be sent to Goode's headquarters and enumerators will be dispatched to the addresses given.

The cities of Seal Beach, Brea, Placentia and San Clemente have been completed in the big count. In Santa Ana the two districts in the northwest and northeast sections of the city, in which the work has been heaviest, probably will be cleaned up today.

Fifty-one of the 89 districts in Orange county and 41 of the 87 districts in Riverside county have been completed. The workers at census headquarters have checked the records for 53 of these districts. Districts remaining uncompleted are chiefly in isolated sections in which there are few residents.

In the final campaign which will be launched by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, probably on Friday, two and sometimes three girls will be busy all day. At the business houses which will be called employers will be asked to return back within an hour on any employees who have not been enumerated in the census. Information gained will be sent to census headquarters and enumerators will call on the employees not counted. According to George Raymer secretary of the chamber, the telephone work may require seven or eight days, inasmuch as there are between 7000 and 8000 phones to be called.

At the time Goode makes his final announcement of population it is planned to have mayors, city officials and newspaper men meet at a dinner here, where the figures will be released by Goode. By carrying out this scheme the information will be given to representatives of each city and its newspapers simultaneously.

WOMAN CONVICTED OF MURDERING MAN

SCOTTSDALE, Ala., April 30.—(UP)—A verdict of guilty was returned here today against Mrs. Myrtle Berry Graham, 29, and Miss Newby Motes, 19, in the "wrong man" murder of Harry Cunningham, 21, Judge W. A. Hawkins immediately sentenced both to life imprisonment. Neither displayed emotion. The jury retired on the case at 10:45 a. m. Tuesday and returned at 8:45 a. m. today.

Mrs. Graham, admittedly under the influence of liquor, stabbed the youth in a drunken rage, thinking he was the person who had slapped her when she tried to engage him in a flirtation.

Miss Motes abetted the crime by ordering the mistaken youth out of a drug store to meet his slayer.

CONDITIONS IN OHIO BASTILE ARE IMPROVED

1000 National Guardsmen In Prison Maintain Order Among Convicts

COLUMBUS, O., April 30.—(UP)—A thousand National Guardsmen, prepared for any emergency, maintained in Ohio state penitentiary today the first real peace it has known since the disastrous fire.

Encamped in front of the prison while strong detachments patrolled the thickly crowded cell blocks inside, the troopers appeared to have quieted, for the time being, the 1300 mutinous convicts whose pentup resentment burst forth yesterday in a violent uprising.

Although the serious outbreak in the "white city" sector resulted in the wounding of two of their own, the rebellious prisoners seem to have won a partial victory in their demand for a change in the prison regime. Warden Preston E. Thomas still was the nominal head of the penitentiary, but all the orders today came from Colonel Robert Haubrich of Fort Hayes, commanding the militia.

The more unpopular guards were missing, and the convicts appeared pleased with their substitutes, the militia.

Complete silence reigned in the interior of the penitentiary last night, a welcome contrast to the ominous restlessness which had prevailed since the Easter Monday fire. More than 200 troopers were assigned to guard the cell blocks where the convicts launched yesterday's attack. Before 9 o'clock, the normal time for reformation, all convicts were in their cells and quiet. The guards said they saw no further signs of mutiny or disorder.

Whether Colonel Haubrich can restore order permanently in the chaotic penal institution is yet to be learned. He faced his first serious test today in an attempt to segregate the leaders of the mutiny and banish them to a barred wire stockade which has been constructed at the extreme north end of the prison grounds.

The enclosure is 240 feet square, and once the ring-leaders are placed inside a heavy guard will be thrown about them.

Although the plans of Colonel Haubrich were not revealed, it was believed that he would start selecting the recalcitrant leaders some time today.

The prisoners were to be summoned by roll call, their clothing searched and the mutiny conspirators assigned to a guard to be led to the stockade. There they would remain until complete order has been restored and some of them removed to other prisons.

Warden Thomas said that with the segregation of the chief mutiny cells of all the other inmates would be searched minutely for firearms and other weapons.

The plan was revealed after an announcement from officials that a guard had been fired upon during the cellhouse siege. The guard was one of those who were fighting to keep the convicts inside the door that separates them from the guard house.

Seven condemned men liberated from death row yesterday by the rebellious prisoners, were lodged in the city jail under heavy guard. All were placed in irons and a double guard of prison guards and police was posted over them.

BULLETIN

A 1 o'clock Hill and Son reported a fall of .55 of an inch of rain between that hour and 7 a. m. today, making a total of .71 of an inch for the storm and a season total of 10.12 inches.

WITH Harold E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, en route to Europe today, newspapermen floundered in the dark as to whether a surprise rain dropping in Orange county in the early hours of today could be definitely classified as a "million dollar" rain.

Orange county was not the only beneficiary from the downpour, for it was pretty general throughout the southland, according to reports.

The Hill and Son gauge registered .16 of an inch as the fall up to 7 o'clock this morning. Other points in the county registered higher amounts for the same period. That the precipitation in the county, so far as concerned the fall before 7 a. m., was spotted was indicated by the fact that San Clemente had only a trace, while at the Harkelroad lease on the Irvine ranch the measurement was .52 of an inch. In the mountain districts, the rain was heavier, the ranger station in Santiago canyon reporting an even inch up to 7 a. m.

A drizzling rain continued throughout the forenoon, and it was anticipated that by the end of the storm the fall for the season would be in excess of the recorded amount at this time last year.

No damage can result from the storm, but it may halt for a day or two the harvesting of the Valencia orange crop, due to the fact that pickers will be unable to get into the orchards for picking operations.

Bean and beet lands will benefit mostly. Bean lands now are in preparation for planting and discing will place the soil in fine condition for seeding, according to statements by bean farmers. Grain has reached that stage where the moisture will be of little value. The rainfall has been easy and unaccompanied by winds, with the result that standing grain has not been knocked down.

Burglar Gang Believed Broken Up With Boys' Arrest

FOUR YOUTHS ARRAIGNED ON THEFT CHARGES

With the arraignment of four youths in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, this morning, on burglary charges, the sheriff's office announced that it believed a gang of young thieves, that has operated extensively in the county for the last several weeks, had been broken up.

Some of the youths have participated in as many as six burglaries recently, Jess Buckles, deputy sheriff, charged today, while others participated in from two to four, he said.

Arraignment of the youths was for 9 o'clock May 6 and bail of $1500 was demanded in each case. None of the boys made bail.

According to Buckles, the "gang" is believed to have entered the home of George Goetsch, of 1424 East Walnut street, Orange, several days ago; the home of M. G. Frost and A. G. Pete, in Laguna Beach, and the Cecil Snow Service station, at Chapman and Placentia avenues.

"We are not charging them with all the crimes we believe they have committed. These four places named are places where our evidence against them is the strongest," Buckles said.

A fifth youth has been arrested in another Southern California city in connection with the burglaries and probably will be brought here tomorrow, according to Buckles.

ADVERTISING MOST DYNAMIC FORCE IN COMMERCE TODAY S. A. BUSINESS MEN ARE TOLD lowly prune and made sauerkraut juice the ambrosial nectar of the gods.

"To you retail merchants and bankers I want to say some things about advertising. The Associated Advertisers of the World recommend three forms of advertising that should be used. The first and most important is newspaper advertising. You get the best results from this providing you give of your time, thought and intelligence in the preparation of your copy. Your newspaper advertising is you and should represent you at your best. Don't let the preparation of your newspaper advertising wait till the last minute. Give it proper consideration and get your copy in early. Direct mail and bill boards and signs are the other media.

"The National Retail Credit association recognizes the splendid things that have come through advertising and has started a continuous educational newspaper campaign teaching people to pay their bills promptly. Five hundred cities are running this campaign and it is developing a community credit conscience. We are now launching a great national advertising campaign costing $7,500,000 and running two and a half years that will reach all the people in the nation to tell them what is expected of them after credit is extended. This great expenditure would not be necessary if the retailer would use intelligence in the extension of credit.

"In addition to advertising there are certain other factors that must be developed and made proper use of. First of these is proper methods of merchandising. The goodness and cheapness of products in the United States is the marvel of the world. It is due to the twin, mass production and mass consumption. Filene, of Boston, has pointed the way for all retail merchants of banding together for two purposes—buying collectively and keeping proper records so that statistics might be developed. It is essential to merchandise the credit department of your store. Folks buy beyond their capacity to pay because merchants are over anxious to sell and do not secure proper information before granting credit. There is 15 billion dollars outstanding on the books of retail merchants that is 70 days overdue. We hope through our advertising campaign to cut this down to 50 days and save $100,000,000 in interest to the retailer.

"Another factor is proper methods of salesmanship. The sales person should sell the store policy—and the retail merchant must have a store policy based on accurate information. You can only have the facts when joined together in cooperation. You must develop the personality of the sales person and you must be a good merchant before you can have good sales persons. We must know the commodity we have to sell.

"A fourth important factor is proper display of merchandise. And right here I want to pay Santa Ana a compliment. I walked along the streets of your community as I do every one I visit, and I want to congratulate you on windows of your stores. They are way above the average. The windows are indications of the character of the merchants operating. Merchants should develop fixtures and attractive displays. Beautiful stores attract the right kind of customers. Color schemes have a part to play. Women make 85 per cent of the purchases and they like to buy in beautiful surroundings. Let's have more showmanship in retail merchandising.

"The fifth and last, but not least important is lighting. Beautiful lighting draws attention and makes the merchandise look worth the money.

"Retail merchants last year did a volume of 60 billion dollars, of which 36 billion was on credit and of this amount $6,500,000,000 was on installment terms. Economists claim installment selling is too heavy and heading for destruction. But it is safe providing you get a proper down payment, have proper credit safe guards and do not continue the period of payments over the life of the commodity. It is one of the direct causes of the present prosperity in America. Installment selling is here to stay.

"Credit organizations must safeguard the merchants and citizens. I am interested in the operation of credit bureaus because they serve folks. Confidence and cooperation is the foundation on which civilization has been built. The operation of a credit bureau requires willingness of men and women to cooperate. I want to pay a compliment to Earl Ruddy. He is a capable leader in credit work and is president of the state organization. His efforts have aided in making California the outstanding state in the nation in credit work. The entire state is organized. I have gone through the bureau he operates here, and I want to say that I have not seen a better one anywhere. It bespeaks cooperation on the part of the citizens and retailers of your community.

"The credit bureau in a community is a great moral force. Deadbeats are not born—they are made through unwise and improper extension of credit. The credit bureau is one of the tools of civilization, ranking with schools, churches, hospitals and prisons. And it all rests on cooperation."

Hulse was introduced to the audience by J. H. Van De Water, general manager of the Retail Merchants Credit association of Los Angeles, and chairman of the 16th Division of the National Retail Credit association, embracing California, Arizona and Nevada. He also paid tribute to Ruddy and his work in the state.

In the absence of W. S. Suddaby, president of the organization, and Herb Rankin, vice president, W. J. Tway, former president and member of the board of directors, acted as chairman of the meeting, extending greetings and welcome to the out of town guests and introducing many of them to the Santa Ana group. Outstanding credit workers thus presented were Miss Camilla Wolf, secretary of the Whittier Merchants Credit Bureau; boat. What followed, according to police, was a matter of conjecture. Apparently all three drew revolvers. When the death barge reached the wharf, Curry's body was sprawled on the deck, a little forward, Burke's a few feet aft. Curry had been shot in the back at the base of the spine, Burke through the chest.

When police rolled Burke's body over, a police whistle was clenched between his teeth.

Police and fishermen marveled that Anderson lived to bring the boat into port.

HEAVY SEAS DELAY RESCUE OF SEAMEN

TOKIO, April 30.—(UP)—Heavy seas still running late today prevented the rescue of 39 seamen aboard the 3000-ton freighter Russo Maru, which grounded on the coast of the Chiba prefecture last night.

Whether the storm would subside sufficiently to allow lifeboats to reach the stricken vessel before it was pounded to pieces with all on board by the lashing of the waves, was in grave doubt.

F. H. Wallihan, secretary of the Ontario Business Men's association; Harry Gunning, secretary of the Redlands Business Men's association; J. W. Stuffleben, manager of the Long Beach Credit association; J. W. Sutter, manager of the Corona Business Men's association; Mrs. Lydia Loesch, secretary of the Orange Credit association; and C. D. Colman, manager of the Merchants Central Credit association of San Diego.

Hulse made Santa Ana one of three places in California where he attended meetings and delivered an address. The other two places are Los Angeles and San Diego. Santa Ana was honored because it was the home of the state president.

Entertainment during the dinner was furnished by Lorene Croddy, soprano; Morgan Jones, baritone; Eddie Burns, cellist; Junior Kavanagh, tap dancer and soloist; and Ione Tunisona Peck, accompanist. The program was greatly enjoyed by the group which demanded numerous encores.

County Employee Breaks Back In Falls From Tree

Robert Smith, county employee, who was seriously injured, yesterday morning, when he fell 20 feet from a tree which he was trimming in the courthouse yard, suffered a broken back, it was revealed today.

He was transferred from the Orange County hospital to the Santa Fe hospital, in Los Angeles, yesterday afternoon. X-ray pictures revealed that the third vertebrae in his spinal cord was broken, Orange County hospital attendants said.

Smith fell to the ground when the safety belt he was using broke, it was reported.

NEGRO'S TRIAL ON CHARGE OF THEFT STARTS

Bob Williams, Negro, is being tried today by a jury in the court of Judge James L. Allen on a charge of burglary, which was filed by the district attorney's office following the prisoner's arrest by Newport Beach officers in an investigation of a burglary that took place there in March.

R. H. Summers, in whose home the crime is alleged to have been committed, was on the witness stand today, telling the court and jury of the circumstances prior to the arrest of Williams. He told of being awakened by his wife, who said someone was trying the door, of his search for his gun, which was missing, and discovery of his trousers with rifled pockets, on the floor.

Summers told of reporting the incident to police and the subsequent arrest of Williams near the scene of the burglary. He also told the jury that shoes worn by the prisoner had a peculiar pattern on the soles and that they tallied exactly and fitted prints on the floor of his home. Some Mexican money, that he had carried for five years, also was found on the person of the prisoner, he stated.

A civics class, numbering some 40 students, from Orange high school, was present for the trial today and evidenced interest in the court proceedings. The group was in charge of M. M. Fishback, member of the faculty.

Jurors hearing the evidence are Guston C. Roseman, A. M. Smith, Clara B. Daughenbaugh, F. F. Stockbrand, H. M. Lister, W. W. Clevinger, Fred E. Poor, Mrs. Helen Ashby, Mrs. Dorothy E. Jeniges,

MUCH INTEREST MANIFESTED IN NIGHT CLASSES

Seventy-five new students have enrolled in new classes in the Santa Ana night school, it was announced today by Mrs. Golden Weston, director, who pointed out that the total enrollment in the night classes now under way amounts to over 300.

Tomorrow will be the final day for entering the class in "Celestial Navigation," being conducted by H. O. Russell. The course entitled "Guides to Reading," under T. H. Glenn, still is open. Different forms of poetry will be discussed at tomorrow night's meeting. The class in "Orange County History," under P. M. Stephenson, is proving one of the most popular, having over 40 students enrolled. The class is open for additional registration.

The course in "Population Problems," under J. Russell Bruff, takes up the subject from the biological standpoint, touching on the subjects of birth control, eugenics and heredity. Bruff discusses the problems over KREG, official broadcasting station of The Register, on Wednesday nights and meets the class on Thursday nights. The class is still open.

The class in "News Relations," under Roch Bradshaw, meets on Tuesdays, at 7:30 p. m., in the high school print shop, instead of Thursdays, in the high school building.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

When you are tempted to feel that God is far away, unresponsive and perhaps unable to comfort and sustain you, just remember by analogy the aged during which which electricity vibrates through the ether before men began to sense its presence and learned to absorb it and to use its tremendous dynamic power.

God's love is all around you, manifesting in innumerable ways, but it means nothing to you until (in terms of the radio) you "tune in" to hear the music of His voice and to transform His power into the terms of your own life. Open your life in faith and He will manifest His gracious presence.

MYERS—In Santa Ana, April 29, 1930, George A. Myers, age 73 years. He is survived by his wife, Mary I. Myers, his mother, Mrs. H. E. Myers, of Santa Ana, four children, Lloyd A., of St. Joseph, Missouri; Dick E., Ralph Wilson and Alice Myers, all of this city. Mr. Myers was a Past Master of Jackson Lodge No. 42, F. & A. M., of Centerville, Iowa. Announcement of funeral later by Harrell & Brown, 116 West Seventeenth street.

MARTINEZ—In Santa Ana, April 27, 1930, Miguel Martinez, age 73 years. Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. today at the Harrell & Brown Funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street. Interment Santa Ana cemetery.

CLAIM EXHIBITS ARE 'FINEST IN SHOW HISTORY'

Blossoming as gaily and cheerfully as though in the familiar surroundings of their own gardens, flowers of every imaginable color and form smiled today upon the interested visitors to the annual Ebell Garden and Flower show—the long anticipated May Flower festival presented by the Ebell garden section. Every year these visitors declare, "This is the most beautiful display we ever have had," and every time they are right, for each year's showing of California blossoms is so lovely in itself that its colorful presence obliterates the memory of preceding displays until it stands alone in its loveliness.

But truly there never has been a more varied nor more satisfying collection of blossoms shown at any Ebell affair and the patrons who pause at the doorway to the peacock room stand entranced as they gaze over a veritable sea of bloom.

Roses of every hue glow from long tables. Shy pansies, regal water lilies, columbine like so many fluttering butterflies, Shirley poppies as fragile as a dream, larkspur as blue as June skies, quaint snowballs that suggest old gardens of the east, queenly iris, tissue-petalled petunias, "Frangipani," slim and lovely, and dozens more blossoms, some, others by their very rareness, others by their profusion and their dear familiarity.

Judges Have Difficult Task

Charles Barages, of Torrance; John van Buren, of Howard and Smith, Montebello florists, and John Gooch, of the Arstron nurseries, Ontario, serving as judges in the event, had a pleasant but an onerous task in selecting the finest from the large display. With Mrs. W. E. Watkins, chairman of the awards committee, they made a careful study of the blossoms yesterday before the public was admitted to the clubhouse. The famous rose cup was not awarded this year, since there was no competition in the rose displays, and the cup is awarded only competitively.

However there were some very lovely roses and honorable mention went to Mrs. A. H. Farrar, for her collection, while in collections of six varieties, Dr. E. M. Mills took first place and Mrs. Cood Adams, second. Among the climbing varieties, Mrs. Perry Lewis took first and Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, second. Mrs. Herbert Krahling's collection of three red roses took first place and Mrs. Cruickshank, second.

Among displays of three pink roses, Mrs. Cood Adams was first and Mrs. Lewis, second. Of the flame and copper colored blossoms, Mrs. Farrar was first and Mrs. Cruickshank, second. Mrs. Krahling took first with her Los Angeles roses, and Mrs. J. E. Paul first with a basket of mixed colors, with Mrs. R. C. Swanson, second.

The best single specimen entered was shown by Mrs. Lewis, with Charles Snyder of Laguna, taking second place.

Among sweet peas entered, Mrs. J. A. Cranston took first place on pink blossoms, and Mrs. Clyde Bach, second. The latter took first on red, on purple, and on parti-colored ones, while Mrs. R. S. Thompson took second on the red. Mrs. J. A. Cranston's basket of sweet peas took a first ribbon.

Mrs. Wissesman Wins

Among the annuals, Mrs. F. W. Wissesman scored first and Mrs. R. S. Thompson, second. Mrs. Thompson also took a first on flowering vines, with Mrs. Farrar second. Mrs. J. E. Paul's flowering shrub took first place and Mrs. William C. Watkins, second.

In baskets showing a variety of blossoms, Mrs. F. P. Jayne took a first ribbon and Mrs. Horace J. Evans, second. Among other varieties of flowers Mrs. Horace Stevens and Mrs. John Ball took first and second on larkspur; Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank and Mrs. Atkins, first and second on columbine; Mrs. Cruickshank, first on snapdragons; Mrs. William W.

Armstrong and Mrs. C. V. Davis, first and second on delphinium; Miss Ada McFadden and Mrs. Fred Forgy, first and second on pansies, Mrs. Forgy and Mrs. H. C. Kirk, also receiving honorable mention.

Among the shirley poppies, Mrs. Jayne took first and Miss McFadden second, while Charles Snyder and Mrs. H. C. Kirk took first and second on the oriental varieties. Mr. Snyder took first on the gerbera, with Mrs. Cruickshank placing second.

Mrs. C. E. Utt's display of flowers not classified, took a first award, and Charles Snyder's took second. In the classification of dining-table centerpieces, Mrs. R. S. Thompson scored first and Mrs. Bach second. Among the novelty flowers, Mrs. W. E. Watkins and Mrs. R. E. Langley took first and second places.

Frank Benius took first ribbon with his collection of cacti and succulents, with Mrs. Isabelle Tucker second. Honorable mention was accorded the collection of water lilies entered by Mrs. C. E. Utt. Of the bulb flowers, Mrs. Farrar took first and Charles Snyder, second.

David J. Wilde, a young lad, had the honor of entering the iris in the show, a single perfect specimen of yellow Spanish iris, taking also first place in the Spanish iris classification. A. J. Perkins and Miss Ada McFadden took first and second place in the displays of bearded iris, while Mrs. W. E. Watkins scored with her collection of varieties of this lovely spring flower.

Among the gladioluses, Charles Snyder offered the best single specimen but took second place in the display, with W. W. Armstrong scoring first.

No part of the flower show elicited more attention from patrons than the school collections and the display entered by Mexican women. The handsome silver cup offered to the junior high schools, was won for the second year, by Tustin while scoring from Tustin junior high school, was Virginia Carson's basket, (first ribbon) and that of Mary Pafford. Each winner will receive a small fish bowl with a gold fish. This applies also to the Santa Ana and Mexican schools where Martina Dixon and Roberta Hoyton took first and second place from Julia Lathrop, and Nancy Lowrie and Helen Bailey from Frances Willard. The tall basket of deep red roses and blossoming sprays entered by Nancy Lowrie was one of the most striking features in the display.

Delhi took the handsome cup offered to the Mexican schools, while her pupils taking first and second places were Carmen Fierro and Belen Galavan. Lillian Montana and Mercedes Pimental scored from Fremont school. These flowers were well arranged, and specially striking was one declared by a prominent Santa Ana florist, to be essentially foreign.

Natavina Valenzuela, 18, of Delhi, today was in the county jail, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, as the result of a knife battle in Delhi, yesterday afternoon, according to a police report.

In its makeup. Slender lily leaves were arranged as a calyx. Then waxen cala lilies were used to encircle a cluster of deep pink roses centered with a single blossom of yellow Spanish iris.

Adult Classes Have Entries

Entries from the adult education classes were equally interesting, and one of the Mexican women won the large fish bowl and standard donated by Horton's Furniture store, and the gold fish given by Mrs. C. E. Utt, for the Delhi school. Mrs. Vasquez and Mrs. Salseda of the Delhi district took first and second place, and will receive fine bulbs from the Garden section. Mrs. Itallino and Mrs. Luz Galiardo scored for the Logan district, and Felicia Gonzales and Mrs. Garado for Fremont. Fremont also received honorable mention for its display of potted plants.

Among professional entrants, Mrs. L. W. Hypes received honorable mention for the great basket which showed how artistically all-white blossoms might be arranged. Rinehar, Begonia gardens of Laguna Beach, took the begonia award with a remarkable collection, and their corkscrew begonia received special mention as being undoubtedly the "largest in captivity," according to one of the judges.

Adding to the interest of the floral display was the delectable luncheon served today, the tables of home-cooked foods, racks of pretty aprons, cases of home-made candies, tables of canned and fresh fruits and vegetables, artistic displays of such varied articles as table silver, china and crystal, fancy pottery, song birds, etc. from merchants co-operating in the event, and the book and white elephant departments so inviting to the lively patrons.

To Serve Dinner

Tonight, the patrons may have an equally delightful dinner served them, and added entertainment in the display of clever fashions. These will vary from styles for tiny tots, to those for young people, and for the mature follower of fashion's fancies. Music will be featured also.

The flower festival will continue all day tomorrow and in the afternoon there will be a public card party, with playing to begin at 2 o'clock.

R. J. McFADDEN CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF POST

Ralph McFadden, well known citrus rancher and leader in civic affairs of Orange county, today announced his candidacy for the office of sheriff, making a strong declaration in favor of law enforcement, and accepting personal responsibility for the office if he is elected.

McFadden's statement dwelt specifically on enforcement of prohibition laws.

"My best and sincere efforts will be devoted to the enforcement of laws that fall upon my office. I will not countenance violations of the liquor laws, and will demand relentless pursuit of violators," he said.

One of the best known citizens of the county, McFadden resides in Placentia. He is one of the leaders in the citrus industry and for many years has been in public life in either official or quasi-official capacities, though he never has been an office holder. He has answered summons for his assistance in various public bodies. Besides his membership in the Placentia Chamber of Commerce, he represents the Placentia-Fullerton Farm center in the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

He has been a citizen of the county since its formation and has the distinction of living today on the ranch where he was born. He is a graduate of Stanford university, holding the degree of A. B. in mining engineering. He was a member of the first highway commission of the county, under the direction of which the first system of paved highways was built. He was chairman of the commission in 1915 when it completed its work. He also was a member of the last harbor commission.

Having grown up with the citrus industry of Orange county, he has been identified closely with its various stages of development. For more than six years he was superintendent of the Anaheim Union

Water company, which has been an important factor in the development of northern Orange county.

In making his statement of candidacy, with characteristic force, he declared today:

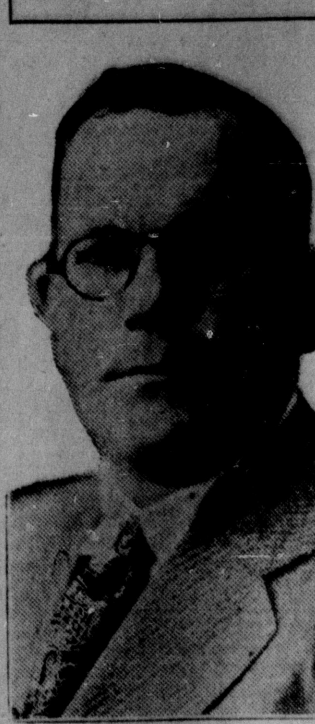

"If I am elected, I intend to take the sheriff's office and run it myself. I would assume personal responsibility for conduct of the office."

All who ever lived in Kentucky, Tennessee or Arkansas are invited to meet at the picnic rally all day Saturday in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles. Each county will have its own separate section in the park, will open county registers and supply hot coffee and badges. The program will include brief addresses and old-time southern songs and melodies.

Vacation Time! The lure of the mountains, fishing, long hikes on narrow trails; all are brought to mind when one views the special feature window of outing equipment at Montgomery Ward and company's local store. A model camp, complete in every detail, occupies one half of the section. In the other half is

BOARD MOVES TO AID U. S. IN FOREST WORK

Appropriation of funds for co-operation of forest forces in forest fire protection during the summer season, change in the length of county employees must wait until they are eligible to obtain group insurance, authorization of employment of an additional worker in the welfare department to relieve congestion there and authorization of the purchase of a truck for use in Irvine park were acts of the county board of supervisors yesterday, at its afternoon session.

The appropriation for the U. S. forest service co-operation program amounted to $2450. This will provide for four men from the county during the dry season to assist in patrolling the district and maintaining lookouts on three peaks in the Santa Ana mountains. The lookout stations are maintained on Sierra, Santiago and San Juan peaks and the patrol works up Santiago canyon, covering Silverado and Modjeska canyons, which are heavily traveled during the summer season.

274 Policies in Force
George E. Faires, Santa Ana representative of the company handling the county group insurance business, appeared before the board and advised that 274 policies for $1000 each now were in force and that approximately five other applications were to be received. The board changed the length of time before employees are eligible to be covered by the policies from 30 days to one year, making the insurance, which is paid for by the county at the rate of $1 per month for each policy, more in the nature of recognition of loyal service. All employees receiving $125 per month or less are covered by the insurance if they make application and comply with the provisions.

Walter E. Gregg, director of the county welfare department, appeared before the board and asked additional help in that department. He based his request, which was granted on the fact that the work of the department is now too burdensome and that additional duties are being constantly imposed. A worker was authorized to commence May 1, at a salary of not exceeding $150 per month. Gregg was complimented by board members on the way his department has functioned.

County Purchasing Agent F. W. Slabaugh was authorized to purchase a truck for use in Irvine park.

Makes Salary Appropriation
In response to a communication from the county planning commission, requesting that salaries of $50 per month for the engineer and $25 per month for the secretary be provided, the board took action making appropriation for the secretary's salary as requested and announced that provision for the engineer's salary previously had been made. No action was taken by the board relative to accepting lower legal advertising rates, as offered by The Register, nor in connection with the position of

JERRY'S A 'MODEL' CHILD

When small tots of the city model the very latest in children's wear at the Fashion Revue, which will be a feature, tonight, of the annual Ebell May Flower festival, in the Ebell clubhouse, little Jerry Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Howard, 523 Baker street, will show "what the well-dressed man of 21 months will wear." Master Jerry, shown here with his faithful dog, will model styles for little boys. The revue of children's styles will begin at 7 o'clock and daughters of Ebell members will model styles for little girls.

INQUIRY INTO LAGUNA BEACH DEATHS CLOSED

Satisfied in their own minds that there is nothing new to investigate in the murder-suicide tragedy in Laguna Beach, last week, when Mrs. Guy Bates Post shot and killed her best friend, Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer, and then turned the gun on herself, District Attorney Z. B. West and Sheriff Sam Jernigan announced today that, as far as their offices are concerned, the investigation is closed.

The last will of Mrs. Palmer, which was found in a safety deposit box, was filed for probate here yesterday by Attorneys Reinhaus and Forgy. The will is one that provided that Mrs. Post receive the benefits from a $1000 life insurance policy and a legacy in jewelry. The remainder of the estate was left to Mrs. Van Bess McDowell, the woman with whom she lived in Laguna, who will inherit the death house and six Laguna Beach lots, and to several relatives. The estate is said to be worth approximately $25,000.

100 PRESENT AT MASONIC PARTY

With approximately 100 persons attending, the annual card party and dance staged last night at the Santa Ana Masonic hall by the Silver Cord Masonic lodge was one of the most successful events of its kind ever put on by the organization.

Dr. Cassius E. Paul, assisted by Mrs. Paul, was general chairman of the affair and was in charge of the card tables, while Gene Hays was in charge of the dance, for which music was provided by Sylvester's orchestra. Paper "snowballs," with which the dancers filled the air, added a novel touch to the affair.

Entertainment included songs by Clarence Gustlin and violin numbers by Mrs. Elmer Heldt. A buffet lunch was served, Jack Lloyd being in charge of refreshments. William Wollaston was in charge of decorations, while Virgil Clem was chairman of the invitation committee.

Mrs. A. H. Faccou was high point winner among women at the card tables, while Walter Wright was high among the men. Low scores went to Mrs. Cox and Charles Pritchard.

Iso-Thermic Tubes

... the automatic self-starting device for fastest freezing of ice and desserts ...

Here is a feature that will appeal to every user of electric refrigeration—a special Kelvinator compartment that gives extra-fast freezing, automatically. Note the spiral coil of Iso-Thermic Tubes, indicated by arrows. This is, in effect, a Cold Plate, in which intense cold is concentrated. Ice cubes and desserts are frozen in half the usual time. Yet food compartments are not affected. A feature exclusive to Kelvinator and standard equipment on all 1930 Kelvinator models.

FOR 15 years, Kelvinator engineers have striven to make electric refrigeration more trouble-free, more automatic, more complete in the service it renders to users. Iso-Thermic Tubes, for example, are found only in the new Kelvinators. Built around a special freezing tray, this new device automatically starts freezing operations when a tray of water or dessert is placed within. Ice cubes and frozen desserts are prepared in record time. There is nothing to watch or regulate.

But Kelvinator design carefully keeps this extreme cold in its right place. A separate temperature-scientifically correct for proper preservation of foods—is automatically maintained in the food compartments. Thus, food cannot be spoiled through freezing or too high a temperature.

With all their improvements in fully automatic operation and in far finer cabinet designs, the new Kelvinators are most moderately priced. See them today and learn how easily you may enjoy this modern refrigeration service now through Kelvinator's attractive ReDisCo monthly budget plan.

NEW BALBOA HOTEL TO OPEN SATURDAY

The new Spanish type hotel, erected on the Balboa ocean front by the Walker Hamann company, will be opened for the season next Saturday, according to an announcement made today by Jerome Freeman, manager.

Containing 50 rooms and 14 apartments, the structure is furnished and equipped in the latest style, with all modern conveniences for guests, Freeman said. It is located just west of the pier in Balboa.

Although Freeman will manage the enterprise, he still retains his active interest in the Santa Ana hotel, here, he stated.

$225 Judgment Is Returned Against Drainage District

Following conclusion of the trial of the damage action of Earl E. Smith, et al. against the Talbert drainage district, yesterday afternoon, before Judge James L. Allen, judgment was returned for the plaintiff in the amount of $225. Smith and his wife had sued for $1050. They claimed that during April and May, 1929, the drainage district had trespassed on their property in digging ditches and had thrown up embankments of land on their property 600 feet long, 20 feet wide and seven feet high, destroying crops on the Smith property.

West and McKinney were attorneys for the plaintiffs and Head, Wellington and Jacobs represented the drainage district in court.

COLLEGE BOYS STAGE ROTARY CLUB PROGRAM

Closer contact with teachers, better opportunities for development of leadership by individuals, less expense than for attendance at larger institutions, home atmosphere and instructors that stand high in the field of education—these were some of the advantages advanced for the Santa Ana Junior college, by Delmar Brown, college student, in a brief address yesterday at the meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club in St. Ann's Inn.

The student declared against the 6-4-4 plan, making an appeal for approval of the program on the ground that it would eliminate the college.

The 6-4-4 program may save the taxpayers a little money, but it will kill an advertising feature that is worth more to the city than the savings that would result," Brown said, in emphasizing the point that the college is an institution that draws many families to this city.

In recognition of boys' week, the conduct of yesterday's meeting was entirely in charge of young men from the junior college, with George Warner officiating as president and Brown as sergeant-at-arms. Warner conducted the meeting like an "old timer" and many members were made to feel at home by fines levied by the presiding officer. Art Beddoes was song leader and William Motley presided at the piano. The program consisted of vocal solos by Beddoes, readings by Baxter Geeting, cornet solos by Warren Schultz and the talk by Brown.

"Mothers' Day" is to be observed at the club meeting next Tuesday, when members will bring their mothers with them. If they are able to attend, or some elderly woman friend. Each member was urged to have a woman guest at the meeting. On the following Sunday evening, the club will attend the First Presbyterian church.

Damn Is Answer To Question Of Census Official

MILL VALLEY, Calif., April 30.—(UP)—Proof that a census taker's job is no easy one is contained in the following incident:

When Uncle Sam's patient solicitor knocked at the door of an inhabitant of this community, he "popped" his first question by asking the woman's name.

"Damn," answered the woman, whom the census taker now decided was no lady.

"I know how you feel," he said, "but I just work for the government. —I don't want to hear you swear. I just want your name."

"Damn, Damn, Damn," said Mrs. Damn. "Mrs. Rosalie Damn."

Later on in the afternoon, he decided he has the worst community in the nation to cover, when he encountered Mrs. Ray Swearingen.

RAIN, RAIN PLEASE GO AWAY

So Sing Beau Brummels, Awaiting Straw Hat Day
COME UPON SOME OTHER DAY

Today's showers had a dampening effect, not only upon the Southern California countryside, but upon the spirits of Southland Beau Brummels, who were all in readiness to blossom out with new straw hats when May dawned tomorrow, ushering in the annual Straw Hat Day.

Santa Ana clothiers have made complete preparation for the interesting occasion, dressing their windows with smart new straws and panamas in anticipation of the demand for new headgear. A certain amount of deference has been paid the conservative dresser, who wishes to cling to his felt hat a trifle longer, by offering a variety of light spring felts, informal in color and design, but for general purposes it might be said that straw will reign supreme.

Judging by the styles shown by the enterprising merchants, a certain spirit of informality, a "jolie de vivre," will maintain, for promiscuous to be given the informal colors and styles. While the stiff brim of yesteryear, the uncompromising lines and general austerity of weaves and design still are to be found, the more popular hat of the present has taken on the fashion of the popular soft felts. It carries a rakish carelessness of brim and a semi-creased effect of crown.

Nor does it follow an unvarying natural color. One may select a soft gray, which will blend perfectly with the demand for gray suits this spring. And there are gradations of the color, some with a suggestion of taupe or rose. Browns also run the gamut of shades—"delicate nuances of tone" would be the phrase were women's hats being described.

In every case the band is of slightly darker silk or glossy satin, and usually in a solid color, although some Milan straws are to be found with narrow lines in darker tones forming a bordered effect.

Many Stiff Straws

Of course every store has stocked many styles in the stiff straws, some showing a smoothness of weave almost equal to the Milans, others of extremely heavy and coarse weave. All seem to display the plain black band. In some of the soft leghorn weaves in white, tan or gray, a concession to the prevailing wave of color is shown in the very dark green fold of silk encircling the crown. The Panamas, almost without exception, bear a band of narrow black grosgrain ribbon.

One popular men's furnishing store shows an innovation in colors, for its shelves hold Milans and other weaves in pastel colors of green and rose.

Sharing interest with the straws, especially for country club and golf course wear, are the snappy caps in such loose weave as to offer the maximum of protection with the minimum of weight. Where the hats seem to cry aloud for smart white flannels, dashing grays or popular tans, the caps demand careless plus fours and comfortably loose sports coats.

Even with the lowering skies, merchants declare the demand for new straws is normal, indicating that men are hopeful for clear skies tomorrow and the sunny weather that would seem desirable if one were to lay aside the winter felt and sally forth with the spotless new straw.

Mr. Meyers, a resident of Santa Ana for a number of years, is believed to have taken his own life because of worries over his physical condition. He was suffering from an ulcer on one eye and he worried over it to such an extent that he had threatened to take his life unless he got relief, it was reported.

A native of Iowa, Mr. Meyers was a past master of Jackson lodge, F.

CONSERVATION NEED STRESSED BY CHAMBERS

YORBA LINDA, April 30.—

Chairmen of standing committees of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County were announced last night at the regular meeting of the chamber, held in the Women's clubhouse here, with 160 in attendance.

President J. S. Malcom announced the committee chairmen at the business meeting which followed the 6:30 dinner, served by the Women's club. They are as follows:

Advisory committee, Lotus Lundon; agricultural, Harold Wahlberg; aviation, W. J. Carmichael; county planning, Dr. Walter Biggam; education, Ralph McFadden; good roads, J. A. Smiley; harbor development, Lew Wallace; industrial, J. C. Bliss; legislative, George McLeod; publicity, V. D. Johnson; recreation, Ross Shafer; state parks, George Raymer; transportation, Hal Warner; water conservation, L. F. Colburn.

The meeting opened with the address of welcome, by L. C. Janeway, of the host chamber. The answer was made by the vice president, L. T. Stephens. After chairmen of the standing committees were announced, they reported on the activities. Carmichael requested that the aviation and industrial committees be consolidated and a vote was taken to that effect. McFadden reported on roads for Smiley, who had written from Ireland, giving that country credit for good roads. Wallace spoke on harbor development and said that the recent high tides had done no damage to the breakwater or the shoreline.

Announces Valencia Court

Johnson spoke for publicity, saying that it was up to the chambers to ask for publicity funds for the county. He also announced that Queen Valencia's Court is to be held on the athletic grounds of the Orange union high school Friday night, May 9.

Shafer announced that the Associated Chambers golf tournament is to be held at the Santa Ana Country club on June 5. Raymer reported on state parks, saying that the state and county soon would survey and appraise the site proposed for park purposes along the Orange county shoreline.

Hale reported on water conservation, the "greatest problem facing the people of America today." Hale told how Long Beach, situated outside both the San Gabriel and Santa Ana watersheds, was trying to acquire a strip of land covering about 40 square miles along the west border of Orange county, which they claimed was west of a ridge that turned water toward Long Beach.

"Of course it takes eminent engineers and attorneys to locate a ridge where there isn't one, and lots of money, but it can be done," said Hale. "We cannot prevent Long Beach from coming in and taking this water for domestic purposes. Pasadena is building a dam at the headwaters of the San Gabriel to hold back waters which she claims are going to the ocean. Thinking of this, we should realize that water running from the Santa Ana river into the ocean may be filled on by anyone with money to buy that water, and to protect ourselves, we must build our dams, conserve our water and protect our county from floods.

Sees Serious Situation

"The next five years are going to be the most serious we have faced in regard to this question and it is up to the people of the county to get together and back the supervisors in some comprehensive plan of flood control."

R. D. Flaherty and A. Dupes, Capistrano editor, backed up the statements of Hale. Dupes said that "if we don't get together on this problem, some one else will come in and clean up while we are fighting."

S. H. Lucas quoted figures on votes against the bonds in the northern part of the county and told of the San Gabriel dam, which already has cost an enormous amount above the project figures. He said that the Orange county dam could be put in at one-tenth the expense to the county if we had federal aid. Wallace and Vice President Stephens were among others who urged a fight for flood control and water conservation.

County planning was discussed, E. E. Pickrell and George Kellogg pointing out the inadvisability of having on the planning committee the men appointed by the county, and advocating, instead, men who would work with the committee or against it if the necessity arose.

The American Legion Horse show, at the fair grounds on Saturday and Sunday of this week, the annual Valencia Orange show, in Anaheim, and the May festival, in Yorba Linda, on Saturday, May 3, celebrating the completion of the new packing house, new roads and the first annual flower show of the Yorba Linda Women's club, were announced.

Two feature attractions are planned for presentation over KREG, tomorrow, during the Children's Hour with Inez Moore. The Children's Hour is presented daily over KREG between 4 and 5 o'clock.

The Girls' Glee club of the Frances Willard junior high school, which was on the air yesterday, will return for another air performance between 4 and 4:30 tomorrow afternoon and, following the club, Betty Lee Mills, talented tot reader, will give several numbers.

Engineer J. W. Scott, who has just been retired from service on the London, Midland and Scottish Railway, traveled more than 1,000,000 on engines without mishap, and holds the record for the longest non-stop run.

Mexican People Will Entertain Breakfast Club

An all-Mexican program will be presented at the meeting of the Santa Ana Breakfast club tomorrow morning. It was announced today by Bruce Switzer, general program chairman. The program has been arranged by a committee composed of George Boyd, O. K. Forgy and Hunter Leach.

The Rev. B. E. Garcia, pastor of the local Protestant Mexican church, will be the speaker, and it was stated he will tell how Mexicans of the city are taking advantage of opportunities offered them for learning American ways—in education, domestic affairs and civic and religious matters.

Instrumental numbers will be presented by a trio composed of Sol Gonzales, Miss Ruth Frothingham and Eduardo Rodriguez, and vocal numbers will be given by Miss Andregetta Armendariz, a talented Mexican girl of this city.

The British Parliament has been considering a bill prohibiting the training and exhibiting as performing animals of chimpanzees and all other anthropoid apes, lions, tigers, panthers, hyenas, leopards, pumas and cheetahs.

PRISON SURVEY SHOWS MANY STATES FACING TRAGEDIES SIMILAR TO OHIO PEN FIRE

How many state prisons in the United States offer fire hazards similar to those at the antiquated Ohio penitentiary at Columbus, where 320 men died in the nation's worst prison tragedy?

The following nation-wide survey represents an attempt by The Register and NEA Service to find out. Nearly every state is represented, with especial attention being paid to such points as congestion, sanitation and the relative newness of the prison buildings.

Few generalizations can be drawn from the survey. In approximately half of the cases, the prisons are reported antiquated and badly crowded. In the others it was said that the prisons are new, modern, fireproof and adequate to house all their inmates. In a few states "model prisons" are reported; in a few others, conditions nearly as bad as those at Columbus are disclosed.

Only on one point do practically all states agree. In nearly every case the prison population has increased enormously during the last 10 years. Prisons that were large enough in 1920 have become inadequate.

BOILS
HEALED OVERNIGHT
Specialist's salve, Carboll, stops pain instantly. Heals worst boil overnight. Get Carboll from drugist. End pain quick. Boils vanish in quickest time ever known.

The following survey indicates that there are a good many prisons in the United States where a tragedy similar to that at Columbus could occur at any time:

Alabama
Kilby prison, at Montgomery, was erected only a few years ago and is one of the most modern in the United States. Quarters are comfortable and apparently fireproof. Each cell has washstand and toilet. Several years ago state discontinued leasing of convicts to mines.

Arizona
State's only prison, at Florence, is modern and sanitary. Is sadly over-crowded, however, with 525 inmates in prison designed to hold 275. New cell block now being built to house 168. In general, however, conditions good. Prison is 18 years old.

Arkansas
State prison run as a farm system, with 10,000-acre plantation near Little Rock operated by convicts. State's 1200 prisoners are housed in separate prison farm buildings, which are new, modern and sanitary. No fire hazard. Twenty-five convicts, including newly-sentenced men and condemned murderers, housed in prison at Little Rock. Prison population up 25 per cent in 10 years.

California
Folsom prison badly overcrowded, with 2254 prisoners in 900 cells. Sanitary conditions very bad. San Quentin prison better, although its 4870 prisoners are housed two to a cell. Population of each prison up more than 100 per cent from 1920 figure. San Quentin has many old buildings but is supposed to be fireproof.

Colorado
Conditions very bad. Antiquated and unsanitary prison, designed for 550 men now holds 1100, with three of the four cell blocks housing two men in each cell. New cell block under construction to hold 200 men; first new building in 20 years. Recommendations for improvement, made since October riot, have been ignored. One incendiary fire since then. Situation considered dangerous.

Connecticut
State prison at Wethersfield sanitary and fireproof, with automatic sprinklers. Houses 662 men and has 25 vacant cells. Sixty insane prisoners now housed in antiquated cell block, which will be remodeled soon. New wall being built to increase yard space.

Delaware
State prison near Wilmington considered one of most sanitary and modern in country. Houses 600 men and is not over-crowded. Is of fireproof construction; when prison workshop caught fire years ago prisoners were marched out without delay. All cells can be opened from central corridor.

Florida
Prison facilities sadly inadequate. Have 2600 prisoners, double number a decade ago. New concrete barracks at Raiford state prison to house 1000 men, but 700 are still lodged in ancient wooden buildings. State operates many road camps with prison labor. Nearly 100 prisoners escape every year.

Georgia
State maintains 320 county prisons where convicts are held while working on public projects; over-crowding at one central prison is thus avoided. Most of prisons are modern, sanitary and healthful, and old-style cages are being replaced. Prison farm, housing 620 men, is slightly over-crowded, but additions are now being made. State has 3800 convicts, less than 400 above number reported in 1917.

Idaho
Penitentiary not over-crowded, having at present 379 convicts in cell blocks built to house 500; but prison is somewhat antiquated and sanitary conditions could be improved. New prison farm now being put in shape.

Illinois
Illinois prisons now hold 9037 men and are crowded 40 per cent above capacity. State prisons at Joliet and Chester considered wholly out of date. Prisoners sleep three to a cell. Additions to these two prisons and to reformatory at Pontiac, costing $1,500,000, now under construction and will house 3000 men. In addition, $225,000 is being asked for a new prison farm at Vandalia and $1,000,000 for new women's prison at Dwight. Prison population more than doubled since 1920.

Iowa
Prison population has more than doubled in last 10 years, but state prison at Madison, housing 1241 men, is not over-crowded. State reformatory at Anamosa is crowded, with some cots in corridors. Both buildings are fireproof and modern, and new cell block to relieve congestion is being built at Anamosa. Officials say no fire hazard at either place.

Kansas
State penitentiary entirely rebuilt in last eight years and is considered modern, sanitary and fireproof. Holds 1733 prisoners now, and has many empty cells. Prison population has doubled in 16 years, but increase chiefly due to cutting down of paroles, commitments having increased only 20 per cent.

Kentucky
State prisons greatly over-crowded, holding twice as many inmates as designed for. Recent legislative report called crowding so bad as to endanger convicts' health. Fire hazard low due to stone construction, but state insane asylums offer great danger, built of wood nearly a century ago. Asylums badly crowded.

Louisiana
State prison system highly modern, very sanitary and practically fire-proof. There are three prisons at Angola, St. Gabriel and Good Hope. Convicts housed in two-story buildings, with modern hospitals and school facilities for the illiterate. All convicts work and prisons are self-supporting. Number of convicts has risen from 1700 to 2200 in three years.

Maryland
Antiquated penitentiary has more than 1100 prisoners in space designed for 800, and has virtually no space for recreation. However, state has approved $3,000,000 for new prison.

Massachusetts
Penitentiary at Charlestown is very antiquated and over-crowded, but modern building is now being erected at Norfolk.

Michigan
Prison population has increased tremendously in last decade, but new cell blocks at Jackson penitentiary have helped relieve over-crowding, many men being transferred there from Marquette prison. Prisons are fairly modern and sanitary except Detroit House of Correction, built in 1860 and never modernized. Superintendent says fire hazard here much worse than at Columbus. This has 1200 prisoners in cells requiring separate inmates, of whom 60 are federal prisoners. Prison population has risen rapidly; in 1920 only 92 were in prison.

New Mexico
State prison at Santa Fe now has 504 men in accommodations built for 490, but warden says still more could be taken care of. Sanitary conditions very good. Some fire hazard, but all cell blocks have easy exits, reducing risk. Prison population 10 years ago was 322.

New York
All four New York prisons are over-crowded. Prison at Auburn, built in 1816, and prison at Clinton, built in 1846, are highly insanitary as well. Modern new cell blocks built at Sing Sing, where nearly all old cell blocks have been abandoned. Great Meadow prison is modern and is considered a model. New prison under construction at Attica. Following Clinton and Auburn riots big new prison program drawn up, but has not yet been definitely passed on. Population in all four prisons much higher than in 1920.

North Carolina
State prison badly over-crowded, utterly antiquated and is called by Governor Gardner a fire trap. Built in 1869 of pine wood throughout and is highly inflammable. Hospital is on third floor with a wooden stairway as only exit. Would burn like tinder if fire ever started. Prison population up 300 per cent since 1920;

Has your home a "successful" look?

Nothing makes a house look so dilapidated as lack of paint... that's a fact! Just a few coats of colorful Fuller Paints make all the difference in the world.

There's such a crisp, clean, "successful" look about a freshly painted house! And painting really costs so little, comparatively.

Why not call in a good painter right away, and talk over the repainting of the outside, and the rooms that need redecorating?

But don't buy on price. Buy quality. Insist, above all, on Fuller Paints. By their extensive use, over a period of 81 years... they have demonstrated their beauty of texture, durable wearing qualities, their greater covering capacity, and ease of application. That's why they have always been the choice of the West's leading painters, decorators, architects and industrial users.

Look for the Fuller name on the can. Sold throughout the West... by Fuller dealers and branches everywhere.

While the difference in price is only slight... between Fuller Paints and so-called "cheap" paints... there's a tremendous difference in quality, and in the results that you get.

Ask any chemist. He'll tell you that it's because of constant, painstaking care... and testing, testing, testing that Fuller Paints are so beautiful in texture, so long lasting, and so easy to apply.

Linseed Oil, for instance, must pass two dozen tests... before it is used in the manufacture of Fuller Paints. Only one of the two dozen tests that Linseed Oil must pass, in the Fuller laboratories... is a delicate light refraction test, which is also used in determining the value of diamonds.

Radio News

The self-same radio waves which bring you the laugh-saturated voices of Henry and George, "The Dumbbells," Over-KREG, now are being transformed into a new battlefield. For science now is using them in its unending battle against disease. Experiments in the use of high frequency electric current on an extremely short wave length to kill disease germs in animals now are being conducted by experts in the biological laboratories in the University of Pittsburgh and it is possible, scientists claim, that replacement of malarial fever germs in the treatment of paralysis may result. The new experiments are based on the recently acquired knowledge that high frequencies of from 2500 to 10,000 kilocycles on a 12 to 30-meter wave length cause the human body, and those of animals, to become heated as though with fever. Chances of recovery of a paralysis victim are greatly increased by inoculation of malarial fever germs. It was found in experiments several years ago, but if radio waves can be used to induce great body heat with the same results the treatment will be greatly simplified.

WELL ROUNDED PROGRAM TO BE KREG OFFERING

BY THE RADIO EDITOR

Presentation of two exceedingly interesting educational features, the first the weekly radio class in "International Relations," conducted by L. L. Beeman, and the second J. Russell Bruff's regular Wednesday radio class in "Population Problems," will help vary the excellent program planned for listeners, tonight, to KREG, the "Voice of the Orange Empire."

The 4 to 5 o'clock Children's Hour, as usual, will get the evening's entertainment under way and the Shoppers' Guide, with announcements interspersed with the latest musical hits, will follow in its usual position, from 5 to 6 o'clock. Another of Alan Revill's organ recitals, coming by remote control from the First Congregational church, will be put on the air between 6 and 6:30, at which time Frank and Ralph, "The Arkansawyers," will present a half hour of old-time fiddle and banjo music. The news of the day will be read during the 15-minute period starting at 7 o'clock.

Eagerly awaited each week by hundreds of listeners, another group of poems from the collection of Mrs. L. L. Beeman, which she has entitled "Treasured Poems of Heart and Home," will be read between 7:15 and 7:45 tonight. Mrs. Beeman will be assisted in the presentation, by Lizzetta Phillips, KREG pianist. Mrs. Taylor Johnson, prominent Pacific coast contralto, who made such a decided hit in two previous appearances before the KREG microphone, will be back on the air between 7:45 and 8:15 tonight with her accompaniment at the piano by Allen Lash and plans for tonight a group of numbers holding special appeal for young folk and children.

The Holly Lash Vies Singers will offer another of their beautiful vocal programs tonight, being on the air from 8:15 to 8:45, when L. L. Beeman's radio class in "International Relations" will get under way to continue for 15 minutes. J. Russell Bruff, science instructor in the junior college, will resume his "Population Problems" class at 9 o'clock. The class, which occupies 15 minutes, is conducted over KREG each Wednesday night and then, on the following night, the class members meet in Bruff's classroom, in the junior college for further discussion of the "problems."

"Those Three Boys," Hawaiian trio, will bring tonight's entertainment to a close, presenting a number of Hawaiian melodies between 9:15 and 10 o'clock.

Says Anaheim City Park Reduces Juvenile Delinquency

DR. BIGHAM IN P.-T. A. SPEECH: NAME OFFICERS

ANAHEIM, April 30.—Dr. W. L. Bigham was the featured speaker at the dinner meeting of the Fremont Parent-Teacher association last night. Mr. Bigham talked on the subject of city parks and the Anaheim park in particular.

Beginning with the struggle for three years before bonds could be voted for the 20-acre city park, Mr. Bigham pointed out the benefits of such a park for recreation and entertainment, mentioning the municipal plunge, which attracted some 20,000 people during the three months it was open last summer, the horseshoe and tennis courts, croquet ground, indoor baseball diamond and supervised playground for children. He also told the audience that in the picnic section the fires for cooking and the barbecue pit are now ready for use. The outdoor theater, fought by many citizens, last summer attracted between 20,000 and 25,000 people for its concerts, which will be a part of this year's program.

The speaker declared that the park is yet not completed and that a few things are to be added to complete the program for which the bonds were voted.

In speaking of the beauty of the park, Mr. Bigham called attention to the fact that there is a plant or tree for practically every kind that will grow in this country, and that the lily pond is excelled only by one other in Southern California. The 8000 trees, of which a large number are flowering fruit trees, planted in the parkway over the town, he pointed out, are also a part of the park system.

Mr. Bigham assured his audience that juvenile delinquency has been reduced in Anaheim since a recreational center has been provided to a marked degree and that this city now ranks lowest in juvenile delinquency of any city of its size in Southern California.

At the dinner meeting the following officers were re-elected for another year: Mrs. C. A. Sisson, president; Earl Phillips, vice president; Mrs. Ethel Hill, secretary; Mrs. W. N. Palmer, treasurer; Miss Ada Garfield, parliamentarian; Mrs. James M. Pifer, historian, and Miss Barnes, auditor.

Musical was furnished during the evening by the Fremont orchestra members, appearing in their new uniforms of white trousers and skirts with orange sweaters. Miss Lily Hansen is the director of the orchestra. The boys' orchestra gave several vocal selections.

Spanish Village Plans Cleanup Of Beach Tomorrow

SAN CLEMENTE, April 30.—Thomas F. Murphree, mayor of San Clemente, has declared a half holiday for the May day cleanup of the municipal beach. The city force will go to the beach Thursday afternoon and start cleaning up the strand for the summer visitors. A feed will be prepared for the workers by the women of the city.

MEN INVITED TO REVIVAL IN ORANGE CHURCH

ORANGE, April 30.—Tuesday night was women's night at the revival services being held in the Methodist church with the Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Ireland as evangelists. The women's organizations in the five churches taking part in the revival were well represented.

Tonight will be men's night. All men's organizations in Orange are invited to be represented. Raymond McCall and Mrs. Ireland gave "Sing Me To Sleep" and "One Fleeting Hour" on the violin and melophone.

The Rev. Robert McAulay made the announcements. Thursday night, Indian music will be given by Mrs. Ireland. She will be dressed in Indian garb. Friday night, the high school orchestra will give a number of selections. The boys from the Whittier college, who were scheduled for that night, will appear some time next week.

The Rev. Mr. Ireland brought the message from Rev. 2:4.

At the dinner meeting the following officers were re-elected for another year: Mrs. C. A. Sisson, president; Earl Phillips, vice president; Mrs. Ethel Hill, secretary; Mrs. W. N. Palmer, treasurer; Miss Ada Garfield, parliamentarian; Mrs. James M. Pifer, historian, and Miss Barnes, auditor.

Musical was furnished during the evening by the Fremont orchestra members, appearing in their new uniforms of white trousers and skirts with orange sweaters. Miss Lily Hansen is the director of the orchestra. The boys' orchestra gave several vocal selections.

CLUB FLOWER SHOW TO OPEN ON THURSDAY

LA HABRA, April 30.—A. C. Earley, city clerk, has been chosen to deliver the address of welcome at the first annual flower show to be held Thursday afternoon at the Woman's clubhouse. The doors of the clubhouse will be thrown open at 1:30 o'clock to the public and the show will continue through the afternoon and evening and will be held again Friday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. John Akers, chairman of the garden section, and Mrs. M. Lipplatt have charge of entries and displays. Aside from individual displays several floral displays will be entered by organizations. Among these will be displays by nearby florists, display from the Union Oil tank farm, school displays, a local cactus display and home-grown wild flower display.

Four prize categories belonging to Mrs. George Eaby will sing throughout the afternoon and evening in their cages among the floral pieces. The birds have captured numerous prizes and ribbons at bird shows and Mrs. Eaby has loaned them to the club.

A musical program has been arranged for the opening afternoon by the music section under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Wilson. It will include choruses, numbers, "Summer Breezes," "Bees" and "Old Road." The Menses Ruth and Enid Duvauant will give instrumental numbers.

Tonight an old fashioned spelling bee will be held between eight members of the Woman's Club and eight members of the Kiwanis Club. The following will represent the Woman's club: Mrs. J. H. Walker, Mrs. H. A. Randall, Mrs. J. Edward Brown, Mrs. Paul Pratt, Mrs. E. R. Berry, Mrs. Flora Rhodes and Miss Anna Hopper.

On Friday afternoon a musical entertainment has been arranged by Frank Barrows, musical instructor at the local schools with his school band and the Lincoln school orchestra. Numbers will be given by the Girls' Glee club of the Washington and Lincoln schools and instrumental numbers will be given by Lovilla and Marguerite Williams.

Climaxing the show on Friday evening a dance will be held beginning at nine o'clock. An orchestra from Pomona college has been secured and Mrs. Gus Lindauer will be in charge assisted by members of the Junior auxiliary. A handsome handmade silk quilt will be given away. The quilt was made by the outgoing president Mrs. Anna Launer.

Ice cream stands under huge umbrellas on the lawn will be supervised by Mrs. William Snow. A booth operated by Mrs. Launer will accommodate patrons with a buffet dinner. Mrs. Anna Brookhouser, newly elected president will have charge of a fancy work and white elephant booth.

A floral exhibit has been arranged for the children in one section of the show and all entrants who have flowers for display are asked to bring them not later than 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The children may take their flowers to their school, where they will be collected.

GARDEN GROVE STUDENTS GIVE PLAY ON MAY 2

GARDEN GROVE, April 30.—"The Rise of Silas Lapham," a four-act comedy drama, which has been cast of 20 characters, will be presented May 2 by the dramatics class of the Garden Grove union high school, in the high school auditorium at 3 o'clock p. m.

This is one of the most difficult plays that has ever been presented by the high school and is expected to be one of the best, it was declared today.

"The scene is laid in Boston around 1870. The play concerns Silas Lapham, played by Bob Stroud, who has acquired a vast fortune and is trying to enter society.

His daughter, Orestes Long, falls in love with the son of the most aristocratic family in Boston, Tom Cory, played by Charles Loftus.

When Colonel Lapham loses his entire fortune, the parents of Tom Cory object to the marriage. Immediately the Lapham pride rises and Silas tries to make his daughter give up the thought of marriage.

The second act, a party scene, is very colorful. All the characters will be in full costume.

Every member of the dramatic class has a part in this play.

Women's Club Of Costa Mesa Will Elect On Friday

COSTA MESA, April 30.—The regular meeting of the Friday Afternoon club will be held in the clubhouse Friday at 2:30 p. m., with election of officers scheduled.

Mrs. Carl Mock, of Santa Ana, will be the speaker. Special violin numbers will be given by Bill Greshner and dancing numbers by Miss Chapman.

An evening dance will be held beginning at nine o'clock. An orchestra from Pomona college has been secured and Mrs. Gus Lindauer will be in charge assisted by members of the Junior auxiliary. A handsome handmade silk quilt will be given away. The quilt was made by the outgoing president Mrs. Anna Launer.

Relates History Of Newspapers At Session Of Lions

COSTA MESA, April 30.—"The History of Newspapers," was discussed by Fenton Chaplin at the Lions club luncheon in the Woman's clubhouse Tuesday noon. Reports were given by committee chairmen. Visitors were W. McVay of Santa Ana and Sam Meyers of Newport Beach.

JOHN L. BREEN, 69, DIES IN ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, April 30.—John L. Breen, 69, pioneer northern Orange county rancher and a resident of Anaheim for the last 10 years, died suddenly at his home at 330 South Ohio street yesterday.

Mr. Breen had been ill for about 10 days. Mr. Breen had lived in California for more than 40 years and had owned a ranch near Atwood for the past 20 years. He was a native of Virginia.

He was a member of the Anaheim lodge of Elks and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Breen.

The body is at the Backs, Terry and Campbell parlors. Funeral services have not been completed but will be Thursday or Friday.

Owner Of Drink Stand Arrested

ANAHEIM, April 30.—Alleged sale of bitters and wine tonic resulted in the arrest of T. D. McKeehan, soft drink stand proprietor at 156 West Center street, yesterday.

McKeehan, who has been arrested twice before on charges of violation of the Wright act, will have his preliminary hearing Thursday before Judge Frank Tauch. Trial on one of the previous charges has been set for May 6.

Complaint in the new case was made by Tom Dunn, of Santa Ana, arrested for intoxication, who asserted that the bitters had been sold him at 25 cents a drink and that cider had been sold him at 10 cents per drink. Fred Stewart was found in McKeehan's establishment at the time of the raid and was arrested on charges of intoxication.

Foreign trade of the United States in sporting and athletic goods last year totaled $12,954,988.

CLEAN-UP WEEK PROJECTED FOR MESA DISTRICT

COSTA MESA, April 30.—There was a special called meeting of the chamber of commerce at the bank building Tuesday evening, when discussion of special work was taken up.

The care of the flowers along the highway is in charge of the following committee: Fred Opp, Roy L. Davis and C. J. Lewis. Costa Messans are urged to stop any one seen picking the flowers.

The numbering of homes in Costa Mesa, another needed improvement, is in charge of C. W. Twinkie.

The chamber is planning a cleanup week. The date has not yet been set, as weather conditions will govern the success of the cleanup work.

President R. L. Davis presided at the meeting.

HOLD FUNERAL OF ORANGE RESIDENT

ORANGE, April 30.—Funeral services for Rufus H. Price, 84, of 232 South Olive street, were held at the Coffey funeral parlors at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday.

Mr. Price came to Orange 16 years ago from Minnesota. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and of the Gordon Grange post of G. A. R. The Rev. Robert McAulay officiated, assisted by the Rev. L. M. Pearson. The pallbearers were L. D. Gunther, L. A. Durler, Frank Dutton, P. E. Elenor, J. W. Richardson and C. E. Brayton. Mrs. E. A. Pister sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Rock of Ages," accompanied by Miss Prince Bibber.

Lights Proposed For Tennis Courts In Anaheim Park

ANAHEIM, April 30.—If the city council sees fit to carry out the plans of the engineering department, headed by A. P. Hapgood, the tennis courts and horseshoe courts at the Anaheim city park will soon be equipped with flood lights. This improvement will allow many more persons to benefit by the use of the courts after working hours.

CARNIVAL WILL BE STAGED BY COLLEGE GROUP

FULLERTON, April 30.—Coming as a climax to the activities of Blue and Gold week, the annual Fullerton district junior college carnival will be held the afternoon and evening of May 9, it was announced today. Booths, concessions, open air cafeteria and collegiate vaudeville will make up the program of the evening.

The carnival will open with a parade which will begin at 2 p. m. Prizes of $3, $2 and $1.50 will be offered as prizes for the best decorated cars entered.

An evening meal will be served on the campus in order that all students wishing to remain for the carnival need not return home, it was announced by Isabel Plummer, chairman of the open air cafeteria. The committee aiding Miss Plummer is composed of Isabel Tracy, Winifred Barnett, Ross Reed and Ellen Poyet.

Plans for the vaudeville have not been revealed as various surprise numbers are planned, according to Virginia Shaw, chairman of the vaudeville committee. The committee, in addition to Miss Shaw, includes Ione Wagner, H. Harwood Tracy and Miss Ellasue Lemmon.

The booths committee includes Ella Armstrong, Bertrand Harris, Eshel Phillips, Robert Fry, Harry Robinson, Miss Lillian Rivers and R. A. Marsden.

Allen A. O'Neill, Wm. one brother, Clinton Price, of Spokane, wa. Internment was in the rainbow haven cemetery.

CHURCH DRIVE NETS $1150 AT SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, April 30.—Dan Mulherson, chairman of the community church campaign, reports $1150 collected for the erection of the church. The chamber of commerce has set $7500 as the goal to be reached.

President Trafford Huteson announces that but few people have been approached. A campaign will be made among all citizens and property owners for funds and Huteson believes that the sum will soon be raised in short order.

Ole Hanson, founder and builder of the city, will donate the lot and Mulherson will donate the foundation. It is expected that other donations will be made such as labor, materials and other things needed in the construction of the church.

The directors of the chamber of commerce announced at their meeting that the church will be organized and directed under the supervision of the chamber of commerce.

call it Value of Values

The greatest appeal of the New Essex Challenger is dollar-for-dollar value. That is the opinion of owners, new buyers and prospects everywhere.

What Men Say:
"I bought Essex because it stands out in its field with distinctive value, appearance and performance."

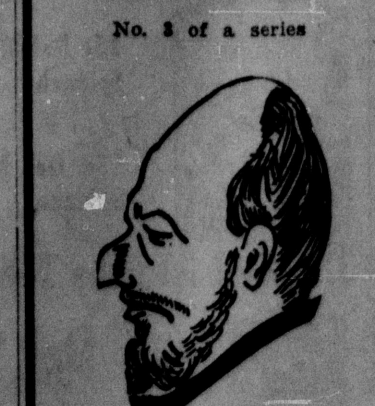

"I want a car to be proud of—and Essex is it. In masterful get-away, hill-climbing and roadability it surpasses everything. And its appearance and economy are as fine as money can buy."

What Women Say:
"My car must be as much a matter of pride as my clothes or my home. Essex satisfies that requirement in every way. For me there is no other choice."

You'll Always Be Proud To Own a CATERPILLAR

THERE are a few products of such outstanding fame that their merit is acknowledged by everyone. Possession of such an article stamps the owner as a man of keen judgment—one who is satisfied with nothing short of the best. In the tractor field the name that means most is "Caterpillar". That's one reason why you'll always be proud to own a "Caterpillar".

But there are other reasons. Most commodities that enjoy world leadership—such as "Caterpillar"—has earned among tractors—are expensive. In the case of "Caterpillar", however, it happens that the tractor which leads in quality also leads in value, for the price is very low. "Caterpillar" ownership is an indication—not only of insistence on quality but of sound judgment as well.

Save Money—Make Money

A "Caterpillar" Tractor will save your money all along the line. The low first cost is made possible by enormous volume of production—with the savings passed on to you. Distributor's margins are also reduced to lowest terms, being 50% less than the profit on ordinary tractors. Again you get the benefit of the reduction in cost.

A "Caterpillar" Tractor will also make money for you. All "Caterpillar" Tractors are economical to operate, easy to ride, easy to steer. A "Caterpillar" will not pack your land. With it you can get on your land sooner after a rain or irrigation—finishing the job while the ground is in prime condition. "Caterpillar" Tractors do not waste fuel in slippage. They do not mire. They handle so well that you never bark a tree or break a stand-pipe. All these advantages help you to get better crops and bigger profits.

Superior Service

"Caterpillar" Tractors have the reputation of keeping on the job without requiring much attention. But if you ever do need service you'll get it from Shepherd just how, when and where you want it.

Gentlemen:

I have been using the Caterpillar Tractors for a number of years and have found them to be very economical and satisfactory. I find that Caterpillar Tractors have been inexpensive to operate and lose a minimum of time on account of repairs.

I have never had to replace the tracks, and from my experience believe the tracks will last at least five years.

One of the big advantages of Caterpillar Tractors is that they handle so easily. We find that little time is lost at the end of the row in turning, because the Caterpillar Tractor turns so easily.

The fact that they do not pack the land is a decided advantage, and makes it possible to get on the ground very soon after rains without danger to the farm.

We have been very much pleased with the service given by your organization from the complete service station you have established here in Santa Paula.

Very truly yours,
Milton M. Teague

SURVEY SHOWS STATES FACING PEN TRAGEDIES

1200 men held in penitentiary and balance of state's 2332 convicts kept in road and quarry camps. Governor will ask next legislature to build modern prison.

North Dakota

State penitentiary has 400 men, with housing conditions fairly good. One old cell block is called insubstantial, but most prisoners are lodged in modern fireproof building. Prison population has not increased much during past decade.

State prison very old, insubstantial and extremely congested. Reformatory at Mansfield equally crowded, with 1167 boys in buildings designed for 1000. Conditions in most Ohio insane asylums said to offer fire hazards nearly equal to those at Columbus prison, where 320 men were burned to death. National Society of Penal Information last year called Columbus prison worst in nation from standpoint of over-crowding.

Oklahoma

State prison at McAlester greatly over-crowded, but neither antiquated nor insubstantial. Prison population has jumped from 1700 in 1923 to 3017 this year. New cell house, industrial building and laundry just built, but space for recreation is lacking. Aside from over-crowding, conditions are good.

Oregon

State prison buildings very old, badly over-crowded and highly dangerous from fire standpoint. Designed for 500 prisoners, now holds over 800. Ohio fire has caused officials to declare new fireproof prison will be built. Prison population up 40 per cent in 10 years.

Pennsylvania

Prisons are over-crowded, but sanitary conditions are generally good. Prison population has increased at slightly lower ratio than general population. New building built at Rockview, and new prison built at Graterford to replace over-crowded eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia.

Rhode Island

State penitentiary built in 1878 but subsequently remodeled and enlarged. Sanitary conditions excellent, and cells are well lighted and ventilated. Prison badly over-crowded, however, with 575 men in accommodations for 325. State now plans to build separate criminal insane ward and separate reformatory for first offenders.

South Carolina

State penitentiary is modern, sanitary and fireproof, main cell building being of stone with all furniture and equipment of steel. Holds 500 men and women. No over-crowding. Prison population has doubled since the war.

Tennessee

State prison now holds 1800 men, though designed for 1200. Relative to structure, modern and sanitary. However, prison at Brushy mountain lodges 800 men in wooden building, which Institutions Commissioner Richard Lyle calls a great fire hazard. Recent report by Prison Association severely criticized Brushy Mountain prison.

Texas

State prison at Huntsville and scattered prison farms are crowded to double capacity. Huntsville institution entirely inadequate and with bad sanitary conditions. Sanitation even worse at prison farm camps. Governor Moody elected two years ago on campaign pledge promising new prisons, but legislature refused to vote money for purpose. Prison population now about 4300; was around 2000 10 years ago.

West Virginia

State prison built in 1868 to house 540 convicts now holds 3268. Two cell blocks are of stone and steel with fair sanitary condition. Prison factory buildings are of wood and present fire hazard. Only 650 convicts have work to do. Prison population rapidly increasing, having risen from 848 in 1920. Very badly overcrowded.

Wisconsin

State prison at Waupun old and of frame construction, offering considerable fire hazard, though cell blocks are fire-proof. Badly overcrowded and insubstantial, with 1288 men in buildings built to hold 656. Workshops offer special fire hazard. State reformatory at Green Bay old and over-crowded. Population of two institutions up nearly 100 per cent in 10 years.

Wyoming

Penitentiary at Rawlins built in '90s and modernized from time to time. By putting two men in each cell could house 372 men, but now has 360 inmates, of whom 50 are trustees quartered outside. Additions to end over-crowding are either under construction or authorized. Prison population has risen 40 per cent in last decade.

District of Columbia

Has world's most radical prison policy, with prisoners housed in fire proof one-story dormitories instead of in cells. Building new and sanitary and not crowded. Prison now has 600 men, an increase of about 50 per cent in last 10 years.

FASHION HINT: When having clothes fit to be paid for on the instalment plan always allow plenty for shrinkage of the pocketbook by the time they are paid for.

AS GOOD AS WE MAKE IT You can talk all you please of the pastures That seem greener in fields far away; You can wish you were there getting all of your share Of the wealth of the world every day.

But I've tried like a soldier of fortune To find gold and rejoice as I stake it, But to state all the case, there is no better place

Than our town—it's as good as we make it.

O I've heard all the knocks of the knocker, And I've seen all the cogs of the crank, I have seen people hedge when enclosed in a wedge, But I'll say, to be perfectly frank, That the town where you live is the finest. There's none other than you who can break it; Profit well by the past, stick it out to the last, For your town is as good as you make it.

Good things don't just happen in places Where no boosting is done for the town, Or where men get together and talk of the weather Or how heavily taxes bear down; If we work for the town things get going, And we seldom will want to forsake it; Tho it seems mighty fine when someone else gets in line, The town is as good as all make it. If they catch Ross and convict him, it is hoped that the sob-writers will not be on the job that day or any other day until he has paid the full penalty for his crookedness.

There are some sob brothers, too. Commercial cheating, and all offenses involving business transactions, including forgery and bad-check writing, are too much winked at by business men—the victims. Don't blame the courts when victims fail to prosecute.

Over 1000 Boys To Participate In Scout Jamboree

PARADE OF ALL NATIONS TO BE FEATURE EVENT

One thousand Boy Scouts and 500 Cubs, with their leaders, will participate in the fifth annual jamboree to be held at the Orange County Fair grounds Friday at 7:30 a. m., according to a statement today by George Walker, executive of the county organization.

The event is to be under the leadership of a committee consisting of Forrest Whitson, Santa Ana, chairman; Ed Bruns, Anaheim; J. M. Murphy, San Juan Capistrano; Jack Twist, Newport Beach; Hollis Pitt, Westminster; Emil Myreth, Costa Mesa; Joe Severns, La Habra, and Henry Unmack, field executive.

Announcing that the program has been worked out differently from that of previous years, Walker said that the show will open with the Scouts forming on three sides of a square, in the center of which will be present Eagle Scouts and 13 applicants, facing the grandstand. Eagle badges then will be presented to the boys by a prominent Scout leader of the state.

Following these ceremonies, the Scouts will fade into the background and take up formation for the "Parade of All Nations," which will be a miniature replica of the feature event of the world Scout jamboree held in England last summer. The 47 nations having scouting programs will be represented in the parade. While the Scouts are forming, members of El Rodeo riding club will ride around the oval, featuring some of the junior members in stunt riding.

With a sound-off by the bugle and drum corps of Troop 5, Newport Beach, the parade of nations will pass in review. This promises to be an interesting feature, as the flags of the 47 nations will be seen, with Scouts in the uniforms of those nations acting as color guards.

The second act will open on a cleared field with a gigantic demonstration of scoutcraft and activities. The entire field will be a hustling, busy, bustling scene, with camp set-ups, 15-foot signal towers, lean-tos, bridges, fires and scoutcraft activities. While this is going on there will be staff drills, neckerchief drills and first aid demonstrations in the foreground.

The third act will be a gigantic demonstration, with all scouts of the county participating. After this, adjournment will be made to the midway, where various service clubs, organizations and groups of the county will have concessions.

The jamboree again will be under the sponsoring hand of the American Legion 46 and 5, as it has since its inception five years ago. Ted Craig again has taken over the general chairmanship of the event. "Slim" Colwell, director of concessions, has announced that he is receiving excellent support from the groups and that he plans all sorts of paraphernalia for merriment, pleasure and entertainment. The jamboree offers opportunity for the gathering of all citizens interested in boy life and its development in the county," Walker said. "Thousands assembled every year to pay homage and tribute to the scoutmasters for their faithful supervision of the program among the boys. Twelve hundred boys in Orange county are receiving the benefits of their devoted time and energy."

"The program will get under way promptly at 7:30 p. m. Scouts throughout the county have tickets for sale, or they may be purchased at the gate. Each ticket has a numbered stub. There will be a drawing and the lucky person will receive a gate prize. The scouts are indulging in a lively competition to sell all the tickets. H. O. Wallace has announced that the first block of 5000 left his hands long ago and that he is being called on continually for more."

"During the entire time the audience will be favored by the Santa Ana high school band, under the direction of its leader, S. J. Mustel."

Arrange Program In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, April 30.—A program is to be given in the First Methodist church of Garden Grove, May 9 at 7:30 p. m. A group of girls will present "Janey," a missionary play. Following this, "From Darkness to Light," in seven episodes, will be given by the Women's Home Missionary society. This will be followed with a collection of songs including Negro spirituals, to be given by some of the members of the choir. The public is invited to attend this entertainment.

SETTING FOR ROMANTIC DRAMA

Sketches below, by Charles Payzant, show the Ramona bowl, where the annual pageant is given, and below, the Indian village at Soboba Hot Springs, San Jacinto, near where the annual event takes place. The pageant was presented on April 26 and 27 and will be repeated on May 3 and 4 and May 10 and 11.

Predict Record Crowds Will See Ramona Pageant

HEMET, April 30.—Nine thousand persons seated in the great concrete amphitheater at the foot of Mt. San Jacinto last Saturday and Sunday looked back over the shifting mists of time and saw re-enacted the greatest California love story ever told. The opening attendance established a new record for the first two performances of this spectacular outdoor play that is based on the world famous novel by Helen Hunt Jackson. The spectators alternately gasped and applauded in the expression of their enthusiasm. Two hundred brilliantly costumed actors told the story with the snow-capped peaks of the San Jacinto range as a background for their stage. The play will be repeated next Saturday and Sunday and again on Saturday and Sunday, May 10 and 11.

Dorise Schukow, appearing in the title role for the eighth year, attained new dramatic heights in her portrayal of the love and sacrifice of California's most famous and best loved Indian maiden, Herbert Heyes appeared as her unfortunate lover, Alessandro, and won unqualified praise from a critical audience. He is the fourth man to take the role of Alessandro in the eight years of the pageant's history.

The Ramona play has been enlarged in both its dramatic and musical scope. Belle Mitchell, Broadway stage star, appears as Margarita and is soloist in the colorful fiesta scene, while Haske Naswood, Navajo Indian baritone, sings the powerful "Invocation to the Sun" from the rim of the great amphitheater.

Hundreds of noted persons from all parts of California were in the two audiences last week end. The attendance of the first week end indicates that more than 30,000 persons will see the play on the six performances in the twin cities of Hemet and San Jacinto. Many

"Honestly, It's the Best Policy"

SANTA ANA MEN TO PUBLISH BOOK RECALLING EVENTS IN EARLY HISTORY OF COUNTY

The stories of some of the most important and interesting events of Orange county history are to be preserved in an artistically printed book which will be off the press in approximately six weeks, it was revealed today through T. E. Stephenson, author of the volume, and T. E. Williams, who will supervise its publication in the Santa Ana high school print shop.

Stephenson, who is an authority on Orange county history, and Williams, who is head of the printing department of the high school and junior college, plan to make the book one which will be a credit to the county, both in content and in makeup.

Pointing out that the volume will not attempt to be a complete chronological history, Stephenson stated that it will be called "Caminos Viejos," meaning old roads, in Spanish, and that it will cover main events in the county's history which might be suggested by the title.

Williams plans to make the volume a finished and artistic product which will reveal the best that can be done in printing in the high school shop. The book will be made up, bound and set with the Spanish motif in mind and color work will carry out this idea.

Much new material will be covered in the stories, according to Stephenson, and pictures and maps of historical interest will be included. One map, drawn probably in 1810 or at about that time, will be published.

The Portola expedition, the story of Flores, famous bandit, the early stage coach days and similar subjects will be the material of the book. The first land grant to the Yorba family will be recalled and the old map to be printed will show the Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana originally granted to Jose Antonio Yorba and Juan Peralta.

The book will not be a profit making proposition, and only a limited edition will be printed, with the idea of meeting expenses.

ANNOUNCE LIST OF PLAYS FOR DRAMA CONTEST

With every competing Little Theater group of the Southland having sent in its choice of one-act plays for the annual one-act play tournament of which the Santa Ana Community Players' association is sponsor, the local committee, of which Mona Summers Smith is chairman, today was able to make a definite announcement of the programs to be given Friday and Saturday nights, May 2 and 3.

These will be presented in the Temple theater, and seats are now on sale at the Santa Ana Book store. On the opening night, the tournament will be formally launched by the Laguna Beach Community Players, presenting an original one-act play by Mabelle Lord Frost, entitled "Getting Out." Laguna Players always have been enthusiastic in their interest in the annual event, and have co-operated with Santa Ana Community Players in bringing forth while dramatic offerings to the Orange County stage.

Sierra Madre Players will follow with Marian Lawrence Nelson's "Spirals," followed by the Los Angeles Playcrafters in "Gettysburg," by Percy MacKaye. The opening night's program also will include "The Master and the Manicure," by George Ade, presented by the Santa Monica Community Theater guild.

Saturday night's program will feature four productions also, but only three associations, as Monrovia Community Players, in addition to the play which they will present competitively, will add another to the program, taking the place left vacant by the last-minute withdrawal of the Hollywood Players.

Claremont Community Players will open Saturday night's program with "The Valiant," by Holworthy Hall and Robert Midgley. It was in "The Valiant" that R. R. Miller, of this city, scored such a success for Whittier Players in an earlier tournament and won first place for his group. "The Duchess Says Her Prayers" will be given by the Monrovia Players, who will follow that production with their second offering, "The Most Foolish Virgin," by Helen Gertrude Glaskill. The Foot-hill Players, of Altadena, who are entering the tournament for the first time, will bring the annual event to a close with their presentation of "The Sponge," by Alton Riley, and the judges immediately will go into conference and announce their verdict before the audience leaves the theater.

Havrah Hubbard of San Diego, Miss Margaret Penny, of Pasadena, and Paul Ritter, of Alhambra, will constitute the judging committee.

Visiting Players will be entertained at an informal musical tea to be given Saturday afternoon at the Barn on McClay street. Both Friday and Saturday nights will be distinguished by special dinners at St. Ann's inn, at which many members of the host association will join the visitors.

DRAKE SPEAKS ON ALASKA TO EXCHANGE CLUB

An illuminating talk on Alaska, by R. H. Drake, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the board of education, appointment of the program committee for May, and presentation of song and dance numbers by Lynwood "Lightning" Mitchell, featured the program of the Exchange club meeting at the Santa Ana cafe yesterday noon.

Drake, who spent two years in Alaska, supervising native schools, reindeer herds, a hospital, post office and other activities, recalled informative and humorous facts and incidents in his experience.

Reindeer, he pointed out, are like mules by nature, and when, one day, an animal drawing provisions for him and his guide, determined to drink through an ice hole on a nearby stream, his plans miscarried and the "mule," sleigh and provisions, went to the bottom of the creek. Drake's guide philosophically remarked that they were going to die in the waste of ice and snow, four days from food supplies. But they made a two-day "hungry" trek off the trail to the igloo of a friend of the guide.

They were given seal oil and white fish (caught two months before), and here Drake remarked that he believed the whole of Alaska is permeated with the smell of seal oil.

"If you get on the windward side of the country I believe you could smell it several hundred miles away," he ventured. "But don't let anyone tell you he can't eat certain kinds of food. We ate that white fish and seal oil and believe me, we liked it!"

Drake was introduced by Harvold P. Harrison, program chairman. Harrison also introduced "Lightning" Mitchell, colored vaudeville player, singer and dancer, who sang several snappy numbers and dances.

Weddings
HouseholdGolden Wedding Is Observed with Family Dinner

The spring of 1930 will long be remembered in the annals of Orange county for the many golden wedding anniversaries which have been observed since the beginning of the year. One more of these joyous occasions was celebrated this week when for the fiftieth time the date on which Mr. and Mrs. Jacob R. Babbitt, 404 East Myrtle street, again made its appearance on the calendar.

Mr. and Mrs. Babbitt were married April 27, 1880, in Centerville, Ia. Mrs. Babbitt was formerly Miss Sarah Alice Holmes. The town in which they were married was the nearby seat of Appanoose county. It was in this county that they established their first home, living there until 1907, their five daughters having been born in this section.

The next home of the Babbitts was in western Canada in Saskatchewan, Canada, where they lived for five years before moving to Arkansas. Living in this state five years, they later moved from there to Des Moines, Iowa, where they remained until six years ago when they moved to this city.

The dinner which celebrated the half century of the Babbitts' married life was given in the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McBride, Mr. McBride is the editor of a newspaper in that city. Table decorations were carried out in sweet peas and carnations. Santa Ana friends showered Mr. and Mrs. Babbitt with beautiful bouquets and baskets of flowers and they received many lovely gifts.

All the children and their families were present. They were: Mr. and Mrs. George D. Brewer, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McCormack and Miss Marcia Babbitt, of Santa Ana; Ellie B. Fuhrman, of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McBride, son, Arthur, and daughter, Ruth Ann, of La Habra. The only guests outside of the immediate family were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Walker, of Arcadia, and Robert Crossley, Mrs. Walker's son. Mrs. Walker was a childhood schoolmate of the Babbitts' daughters in Iowa.

Hostesses Give First
Of a Party Series
In Spacious Home

Sweet peas in rose, orchid and a clear, joyous yellow, feathery maidenhair fern, blue delphinium and fragrant stock were used yesterday to adorn the home of Mrs. Theodore A. Winbigger, 207 East Ninth street, for the first two beautifully appointed bridge luncheons presented by Mrs. Winbigger and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ernest Winbigger.

Tables arranged for luncheon, were each centered with baskets of the exquisite blossoms, while placed about the rooms were large baskets and vases, and candelabra holding tall tapers in the same lovely variety of colors. Assisting the hostesses in various duties, and in serving the delectable menu, were Mrs. J. S. Smart, Mrs. J. E. Liebig, Mrs. John Wehrly, Mrs. Merle Morris, Mrs. Grace Zaiser and Mrs. Irene Estes.

A unique feature of the bridge contest of the afternoon, was the collection of artistic card table covers, for some of the unusual Japanese batiks brought from the South Seas by T. A. Winbigger several months ago, were used.

Mrs. Merle Morris scored high in the bridge contest, and was presented with a graceful flower jar in heavy blue crystal. A quantity shaped sugar and cream set in the same striking way, was presented Mrs. J. B. Roberts, while Mrs. A. F. Zaiser received a set of dessert plates, also in the ebony crystal.

Since any hospitality in this friendly home would seem incomplete without music, Mrs. Winbigger presented Cecil Fross Willis, contralto, and Miss Ruth Armstrong, pianist, who delighted the guests with their talents. Mrs. Willis sang "By the Bend of the River," and "Johnny's Prayer," responding to the applause with an added encore number.

The two hostesses were to follow yesterday's hospitality with a similar function to be given today, also in the T. A. Winbigger home, and Mrs. Theo Winbigger will conclude here entertaining for the present, with a third luncheon which she is giving alone on Friday. She and Mr. Winbigger are anticipating an automobile trip to the Grand Canyon in the near future.

Pan-Hellenic Plans
Dance As Event
Of May 6

The members of the Pan-Hellenic organization met at Kether's last night. Mrs. Paul Bailey, the president, presided over the business session. Mrs. Bailey announced that the northern Orange county Pan-Hellenic organization is giving a dance May 6 at La Hacienda Country club to which all Pan-Hellenic members are invited.

Mrs. Loyal K. King reported on an investigation of certain phases of the constitution, after which an amendment and a by-law were presented which will be voted on at the next meeting.

A dinner meeting was decided upon for the last meeting of the year and a committee was appointed to settle upon the place.

Miss Constance Cruickshank, Miss Genevieve Owens and Miss Anna Trythall were appointed as a nominating committee and nominations will be presented at the next session.

Five tables of bridge were in play during the remainder of the evening. When scores were added, prizes were presented to Miss Ruth Chase, Miss Ruth Langley and Mrs. John Jacobs Jr.

Mrs. Nell Stanley was a guest.

May Day Recital
Is Enjoyable

The May day recital given by the kindergarten piano pupils of Mrs. Grace L. Hamill was greatly enjoyed by a large number of friends. The little people all did exceedingly well. Little Jackie Gold was unable to be with the group owing to sudden illness. In place of Jackie's first number, Little Patsy McGee contributed a number and although a very young beginner, did remarkably well. Carl Fletcher's outstanding number was "The Navajo," and the Indian war dance was lived in the heart of the young lad.

Little Kathleen Cox played "Hop O-my Thumb" well. The little musician had practiced the selection but a short time.

Much can be said of the talent shown in by little Madlyn Kubitz, pupil of Gladys Simpson Shafer. Her number was perfectly done for a four-year-old child. She gave an extra and unexpected group to substitute for the last number on the program.

The four short numbers given by baby Marilyn Hamill were a great surprise to the audience.

"The Swing Song," which covered three octaves and used the crossing of hands showed the skill of her little fingers.

Each child was presented with a key basket of beautiful spring flowers from Mrs. Hamill and they were also remembered with bouquets, baskets and books from other friends.

MAY DAY IS CHILD HEALTH DAY

Co-operating with President Hoover in observing May Day as Child Health Day Orange county health authorities, members of the Parent-Teacher association and all of those interested in child welfare are planning to make the day the beginning of a month when the importance of guarding the health of the children of the communities of the nation will be especially stressed.

In Orange county Dr. K. H. Sutherland, head of the county health department will hold five pre-school children's examinations at Santa Ana, Fullerton, Brea, El Modena and Katella, tomorrow, ushering in the month auspiciously.

Mrs. F. H. Heine, prominent P.-T. A. worker, is in charge of the summer round-up of pre-school children. Mothers of these children are to be notified of the time and place of the examinations in order that the children may be in good physical condition to enter school next fall.

Other health activities of the Parent-Teacher associations, according to Mrs. Heine, include supplying milk for undernourished children and glasses for those suffering with defective eye-sight.

According to Mrs. Mary Robertson, president of the Fourth District P.-T. A., the objective of the organization for the coming year is to be child health and child welfare. Plans are being made for the co-operation of mothers with the supervisors of the playgrounds which will be maintained this summer. It is expected that there will be seven playgrounds

OF RIGHTS

The ideal to which we should strive is that there shall be no child in America.

That does not live in hygienic surroundings;

That suffers from under-nourishment;

That does not have prompt and efficient medical attention;

That does not receive primary instruction in the elements of hygiene and good health;

May Day has been observed as Child Health Day in Santa Ana for nearly a decade and service clubs, women's clubs and other organizations are giving their time and attention to help put the community on the health map.

Plans for Events
Are Changed

The W.C.T.U. May Day breakfast will be held at the Spurgeon Memorial church instead of Birch park. Members and those planning to attend are asked to note the change in place. The event is scheduled for tomorrow.

The May Day party of Every Girls' club which was to have been held on the lawn of the school will be postponed until Friday if the rain of today continues. It was announced this morning.

Little Guests Honor
Billie Ashmore Here

One of the happiest birthday anniversary parties of the season was that given by Billie Ashmore, six-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Ashmore of 555 West Santa Clara avenue. The affair was staged at the Columbia private school at 1004 Bush street and Mrs. K. W. Simpson, supervisor, assisted Mrs. Ashmore in entertaining the little guests.

The school was gaily decorated with Dorothy Perkins roses and many birthday gifts were used as favors. The guests presented Master Billie with bright congratulations and small tokens of friendship.

Children present were Dale and Claire Brockett, Roy Breaker, Billie Dunton, Virginia Lee Decker, Flo-Flo Plavan, Alta Hunter, Douglas Lyon, Mary Virginia Rhodes, Jack Ralph, Kay Jackson, Jean Albee Robertson and the little sister of the honoree, Mary Ashmore.

this city who have been attending the G.A.R. convention at Riverside this week.

The P.-T. A. Mothers' chorus will not meet this week, the regular session having been postponed until Monday, May 5, at the high school auditorium at 3:30 p.m.

Miss Margaret Cotant of Tustin, left yesterday via airplane for San Francisco, where she will be the house guest at the Tau Zeta house on the University of California at Berkeley campus. Miss Evelyn Metzgar of this city, will be Miss Cotant's hostess. The two young women will return to Santa Ana next Tuesday, when Miss Metzgar will remain here visiting her parents for a short while before returning north to engage in social welfare work.

Mrs. B. J. Eudaly of 1235 Cypress avenue, left yesterday on the Union Pacific railroad for Brule, Neb., on a visit.

C. T. Elisele of 2218 Santiago street, left today via the Union Pacific for Cedar Rapids, Ia., where he will meet Mrs. Elisele, and after a sojourn there with relatives they will return home, stopping in Wichita.

Mrs. A. L. Hanson of Ontario, spent the first of the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trammel, 318 West First street.

Adm. A. W. Grannas, 2404 Santiago avenue is spending today in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke and daughter, spent Sunday in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Moore, Miss Minnie Cowan, Mrs. Emma Chapman, Mrs. Edith Scott, Mrs. Harriet Mitchell, Mrs. Pearl Nelson, Miss Florence Perry and Miss Bertha Bell are among those from

The American Child Health association, through its president, Mrs. Ada de Acosta Breckinridge, is co-operating with every interested community by providing suggestions for programs, plays, pageants, marionettes, parades, and other community celebrations that will concentrate May Day attention on what is being done for children there.

"Preparations in all parts of the country indicate that 1930 marks important progress in the interest and activity towards 'perfect children,'" is the opinion of Mrs. Breckinridge. President Hoover's appeal to America's doctors and boards of health for more medical research into all child ailments, and his plan for the "White House Conference on Child Health and its protection" have greatly stimulated national interest in child health.

Even far-away Hawaii is responding to President Hoover's call to health with a week's program emphasizing the care of teeth.

Whether individual parents take part in the community programs or not, these celebrations will focus their attention on their own children's health. Therefore the American association is asking all local papers to report all such activities, all forums and every civic drive for health. For, according to Mrs. Breckinridge, the only way to have 100 per cent American child health is to "mobilize the home for the health of the child." May Day, 1930, is the time to start this move.

Bride-Elect Honored
At Bridge Affair in
Joe Herschler Home

Mrs. Joe Herschler and Mrs. Margaret Richardson were co-hostesses last night at a bridge affair given in honor of Miss Jeannette Hammett, who is to marry Lyman Nelson, June 4, at the Herschler home, 1137 South Van Ness street. Lovely bouquets from her own gardens were used in decoration of the home by Mrs. Herschler and the motif of appointments for the card tourney was carried out in the floral and early summer designs.

At the close of play high awards were presented Miss Hammett and Lyman Nelson, while Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gredler were suitably consoled. Guests then adjourned to the dining room which was dimly lighted by candles and when refreshments were served, the honoree was presented a shower of linen gifts.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gredler, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Toher, Mrs. Margaret Richardson, Miss Evelyn Gredler, Miss Mildred Lukins, Miss Jeannette Hammett, Lewis Raasmussen, of Los Angeles, Charles Atwood, Merle Kennedy, Lyman Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Herschler.

Varied Program Is Given Last Night

Mrs. Lola B. Wilkinson and Miss Mildred Marchant presented a group of piano pupils in a recital at the Santa Ana Academy of Music in the Greenleaf building last night.

A varied program made up of solos, duets and quartets was given.

Special mention should be made of a two piano quartet played by Helen Johnson, Raymond Chapman, Anna Olivia Ulseth and Doris Lorraine Faupel.

Harriet Skinner did exceptionally well in the Chopin "E Major Waltz."

Other pupils taking part on the program were Alberta Wolfe, Evelyn Harmon, Elizabeth Wassum, Mary Margaret Johnson, Jane Nalle, Wanda Tabler, Betty Jean Corry, Lorraine Cox, Vera Hants, Velda Walker, Dorothy Skinner, June Corry, Hanna May Jorgensen, Lois Marie Franke, Opal Seebert, Patty Clark, Marilee Patterson, Genevieve Eustis and Fred Cartwright.

Legion Auxiliary To Honor Mothers

Mothers will be the honored guests at a special meeting of the American Legion auxiliary of Santa Ana tomorrow night in the Legion hall at 7:30 o'clock. All girls are urged to bring their mothers, or adopt one for the occasion.

An entertaining program has been arranged for the affair and will include vocal selections by Elizabeth Reeves Hubbard, dances by Master Tommy Sutton, and Barbara Cain and Marjorie Kanyon. The hall will be attractively decorated and late in the evening refreshments are to be served by Mrs. Margaret Hill, who is being assisted by an able committee.

ALICE WHITE explains
why some girls are so Enchanting

ALICE WHITE, petite First National star, in the bathroom created especially for her in Hollywood. She says: "Lux Toilet Soap gives my skin that peach-bloom smoothness that is so important to a girl's charm."

alice white

"WHEN a girl is fascinating," says delectable Alice White, whose vibrant charm carried her so swiftly to stardom on the screen, "you may be sure of one thing. Her skin is lovely!"

"Beautiful skin always attracts. It is certainly the most important charm any girl can have."

"In Hollywood, you know, the directors all found out long ago that if a girl is to win millions of admirers on the screen, her skin must have that peach-bloom smoothness that is so ravishing."

"The glaring close-up lights would reveal even the slightest imperfection in the skin. And so, of course, every star in Hollywood guards her complexion most carefully."

"So when I say we use Lux Toilet Soap—almost all of us—you may be sure we think it is a splendid soap."

Such soothing lather, and it leaves the skin so exquisitely smooth and soft.

"It is such a simple way to keep the skin lovely! Any girl can follow it, with the same good results."

9 out of 10 Lovely Stars use it—in Hollywood—on Broadway—in America.

Of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 are devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. All the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms!

The lovely Broadway stage stars, too, have discovered that Lux Toilet Soap gives their skin just the gentle care that is required.

And now the European stars are using this fragrant white soap! You, too, will want to try it. Order several boxes today.

Will Honor New Members of W. C. T. U.

New members are to be the guests at the May Day breakfast to be given at Birch park tomorrow noon by the W. C. T. U. of this city and both old and new members are urged to be present by those in charge of the interesting event.

Each one attending has been asked to bring a covered dish, sandwiches and table service. Hot coffee will be served. The reports will reveal the number of new members gained in the recent drive.

The program has been well arranged and will lack neither in entertainment nor interest. It will include singing of "America," by all present; a devotional service conducted by Mrs. Fannie Leah; introductions of teams and "Upper Tens," solo, "Crusade Glory Song" by Mrs. Blanche Roepke; and the welcome of the new recruits by the president, Mrs. Amy Evans.

The principal address of the day will be given by Pearl Kendall Hays and a solo, "Some Glad Day," will be sung by Mrs. Rosalie Harding. The history of the W. C. T. U. will be traced from the time of the Crusade to the passing of the 18th amendment, by Mrs. A. A. Jones; the present (ten years of prohibition) will be the topic of a talk by Mrs. Estelle Harper, president of the Orange county union, and the future of prohibition will be told in the form of a prophecy by Mrs. Margaret McClelland.

The meeting is to close with the singing of the Doxology.

A first-edition of Charlotte Brontë's "Jane Eyre" was sold in London recently for $2,100.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

The Why of Mineral Oil When Dieting

Questions are still coming in regarding the 21-DAY DIET published in this column months ago. I am answering one today which will interest more than one dieter. The question has to do with the substitution of some oil other than mineral oil in the salad dressing. Many users of the diet found that the mineral oil produced too much intestinal elimination—they were no constipation victims, fortunately.

Mineral oil was used as the base of the salad dressing because it has absolutely no food value, is never assimilated by the body, and aided in righting constipation troubles.

There is no substitute for it, but this might be done: Very small quantities of salad oil could be used and the diet rearranged to take care of the addition of the extra fat calories. It might be done by cutting out butter or bread allowance for that meal.

Just remember that each tablespoonful of salad oil has a calorie value of 100 and that fat calories add to weight.

Don't forget that it is important to watch diet after reducing; it isn't sensible to lose what it has taken you so much trouble to gain. After-reduction diets must be patterned after the diet used while reducing, plus a judicious addition of favorite foods, and always a watchful eye on the scales so that persistent gains in weight may be checked before they get too high.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Philadelphia Scramble
1 to 2 pounds cooked cold meats
1 quart boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
1 or more cups yellow corn meal
Seasoning to taste.

This is a good way to use up scraps of various cold meats so that they look and taste palatable. Cold chicken and veal, or cold pork, veal and beef put through the coarse knife on the food grinder is suggested. But just suppose you haven't any cold meat, yet want to prepare this dish. You could do it very nicely by frying together half a pound of chopped beef, half a pound of bulk pork sausage, and a little summer sausage for flavor.

When the red is cooked out of the meat, cook it tender in the hot water, season it with a bit of minced onion, a suggestion of leaf sage, salt and pepper. Sift in the cornmeal and cook until it is as thick as much, and thoroughly done.

Pour it into a deep bread tin to mould. When cold, cut it in thin slices and fry to a nice brown. It is fine for breakfast, and not to be ignored for other meals if you are in a hurry.

Approximately 1600 calories takes care of the grand total. When ready to serve after frying each medium thick slice would have calorie values of about 150 each. Here the proteins far outweigh the carbohydrates, so an acid fruit should be served with it at breakfast and fresh vegetables at other meals.

Cheese dishes, the current leaflet, tells you how to concoct delectable foods for breakfast, lunch and dinner. A stamped, self-addressed envelope brings the leaflet to you free of charge this week.

Tomorrow we are to have the pleasure of trying a recipe contributed by a Mixing Bowl reader. The recipe is called Roumania Peppers and sounds sum-shus!

OUTDOOR, ALL-COLOR TALKIE APPLAUDED

"Under a Texas Moon," Warner Bros. first 100 per cent talking, singing, outdoor picture in natural color, is the attraction this week at Walker's State theater.

Frank Fay is cast as the gallivanting two-gun-lover who causes ructions in the hearts of the numberless senioritas; corals stolen cattle and brings the thieves to their reward, all with the most captivating whimsicality.

Senioritas who momentarily stir the heart of the roving caballero are played by Raquel Torres, Myrna Loy, Armida, Mona Maris, Betty Boyd and others. Screen heavies who play cattle men, good and bad, are Noah Beery, Tully Marshall, and Charles Selson. The two ludicrous guitar-trumming cronies of the hero are played by George Stone and George Cooper. The color effects capturing the radiant hues of all outdoors—the bright garb of Indians and Mexicans—and the tints of hair, eyes and flesh—are restful to the eye, there is a theme song of haunting beauty.

"Under a Texas Moon"—first of outdoor pictures in natural color, is unquestionably among the most pleasing of the year.

WHITEMAN REVUE CONTINUES RUN

Universal's great musical revue, "The King of Jazz," featuring Paul Whiteman and his 40 piece orchestra, continues its run at the Fox West Coast theater today. The picture started last Monday and plays through Friday night, being given a five-day engagement here.

Diversified entertainment throughout, with a number of snappy vaudeville numbers and gorgeous musical and singing numbers, the picture rates with the best that have been seen here this year. Critics throughout the country have boosted the picture until it's name has become one of the biggest in pictures to be produced in the past 12 months.

Whiteman and his orchestra always are in the background and the Whiteman music is the basis for the entire picture.

John Boles, who was seen here recently in "Rio Rita," was one of the leading parts in the picture, being featured in two of the big song numbers, "In Old Monterey" and "Song of the Dawn." Jeanette Loff, beautiful blonde, has another important role.

The scenery is gorgeous, while the settings are believed to be, in many instances, the largest that have been used in a sound picture. The entire production is in color. "The Golden Pagoda," a travel picture and a Fox Movietone news reel complete the program.

'BLUES' PICTURE FEATURES LOVERS

"High Society Blues," latest all-talking picture featuring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, is now playing at the Fox Broadway theater. The picture closes its run there tomorrow night.

Better than "Sunny Side Up," due to the fact that both Miss Gaynor and Farrell have better parts, in this picture the pair of screen lovers give an excellent performance throughout. If you liked Janet Gaynor in other pictures, you will adore her as the daughter of a social climber, who does not agree with her mother on society and who desperately falls in love with the boy across the street, whose family fails to register at all socially.

Engaged to a count, Miss Gaynor leaves him flat for Farrell, who wins her through his careless manner and the fact that he can strum an ukulele.

In the climax of the picture, Farrell stages a business transaction that makes the snobbish mother and father of Janet come to their senses and the picture ends happily for all.

An Aesop's Fables with sound, a Fox Movietone news reel and a Grantland Rice spotlight complete the program.

Child Stars In Temple Theater

Little Priscilla Dean Moran, the pet of the movie colony and the most loved child star of all Hollywood, is seen at her best in "No Babies Wanted" showing tonight and tomorrow night at Shelley's Temple theater.

No amount of space or words could give adequate praise to the picture as a whole. Suffice to say it should be enjoyed by all. Also, tonight is country store and gift night at Shelley's.

TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN - PICTURES BY KING

Not far away the Tinies found a very pretty eating ground. It was an open garden where the tables all were free. 'Course Clowdy then began to tease. Said he, "Oh gee, now can't we please sit down and eat right here. 'T'll be as comfy as can be."

The Travel Man just smiled a bit. "Sure! 'Tis a dandy place to sit," said he. "I'll buy you all a glass of milk. That will taste great. And then, with cheese and crackers too, that ought to tickle all of you." "You bet it will," one Tine cried. "Oh, I can hardly wait!"

A waiter waited on the bunch and helped them have a dandy lunch. Wee Scouty cut the Edam cheese and passed big shares around. They all made sandwiches real quick with crackers that were crisp and slick. Soon birds flew down and ate the crumbs that fell upon the ground.

"Oh, I am going to find a pet," cried Clowdy. "Watch, now! I'll just bet that I can get a little bird to eat out of my hand." He filled his hand with crumbs and then, a little bird flew down again and sat on Clowdy's thumb. "Oh, my," cried Scouty. "That is grand."

They ate until it made them tight and then went to a stream nearby. The Travel Man explained it was a fine canal. Said he, "These flow all through the countryside and on them big canal boats ride. Now, if you want to see a funny site, just come with me."

So, down the bank they gaily ran and very soon the Travel Man said, "Look, boys! This is wash day and the sun is shining fine." They then were quite surprised to see a woman, busy as could be, hanging heaps and heaps of clothes upon a long clothes line.

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from KEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard, but isn't. TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

HAND to SOME-If you can shoot this short par three holes you'll be able to boast a HAND-SOME score.

EV'NING SALUTATION
"It is not within the ingenuity of the human mind to devise a liquor law that will be satisfactory to the liquor interests."
—William E. Borah.

THE MOST SERIOUS PROBLEM

President Hoover recognizes that the crime situation is the most serious problem in America. He has given more addresses upon that question than upon any other. He has undoubtedly devoted more time to it, and best of all, he is determined that the laws of the country shall be enforced, and that the Federal government shall be single-minded in joining with all forces to the elimination of gangsters and crooks.

It seems that President Hoover has directed the Department of Justice to co-operate wherever and whenever possible with local authorities in attacking gangsters who are subject to criminal prosecution. There are some parts of our government that are always at war against other parts of our government. Our Internal Revenue department has considered itself primarily for the collection of internal revenue, and not as a law enforcement agency. It has always been an unseemly contest between the law enforcement department and the collection department back even in the old saloon days. The $25.00 government tax, if it were paid and a receipt given before the United States Marshal and District Attorney got the seller of liquor, furnished him immunity from prosecution for acts committed before he had gotten his tax receipt, as far as the United States government was concerned.

The Treasury department is after money. The Department of Justice is after justice, and frequently money and justice do not go hand in hand. In certain cases bootleggers making big incomes have reported their income to the government, fearing the facts would become known, and have stated the sources from which they received their money, making a complete statement. But this cannot be used, we understand, in a criminal prosecution. So the government knows that the man is a criminal and is paying an income tax on criminally obtained money, and yet cannot be prosecuted.

The census enumerators get certain information along the same lines. Bootleggers have frequently given their incomes, some of them, incidentally, within a short radius of the center of Santa Ana, with as much as $1,000 a month profit made from bootleg liquor. The government has this information, yet is under restraint not to use it, and the man is immune. It has been doubly difficult and much more ridiculous, when this law enforcement machinery and the revenue collector have been under the same head, for the desire to look after the money being the important factor, the other part has been not only subordinated, but almost neglected altogether.

By changing these matters and putting the prosecution definitely in the hands of the Department of Justice of the United States, Mr. Hoover is on the right track, and his suggestion to the department is that their efforts to enforce the law shall be relentless. He has asked Congress to speed up the bill that will give this power to the Department of Justice, and under the proposed regulations, United States District Attorneys will co-operate with local authorities, which has not heretofore been done. They will not have to wait for orders from their superiors or from the prohibition enforcement department to act. For the general order will cover it all. They are to co-operate with local officials. As has been stated, the purpose of the government is to develop every method possible to assist in launching an attack on crime organizations. To change the character and the spirit of departments of government is no small undertaking. It has taken time, but we believe that within a comparatively few months we will see results that will be heartening.

It is reported that tax collectors in Paris have threatened to strike. Pity the poor Parisiens.

A CONTEMPTUOUS MAN

The Reverend "Bob" Shuler has been cited again for contempt of court, and is to be tried on that issue. Without going into the question of the legal "contempt," we believe that there is no question but what the Reverend "Bob" has the most supreme contempt for certain officials and for certain courts.

We presume he would say he simply couldn't help it. He certainly would have to admit it. In fact, the difficulty with him is that he seems to have more contempt than he is able to pay for, or than he is willing to pay for. But "Bob" should remember that he will not be fined or imprisoned for the contempt that is unexpressed. He can have as much as he can enjoy. In fact, he can have more than he can enjoy. But he shouldn't get so much that he hasn't capacity to contain it and it has to slop over. Or if it does slop over, he ought to take it out in private conversation or on the cat.

We wonder if it would be impossible for the court to act in a manner as to not create this "contempt." Now, if no matter what the court did, "Bob" would feel just the same about it why, you can't blame the court. On the other hand, if "Bob" is right and he is only after justice, and he thinks the court is heading it off, what is the poor man to do? We have no doubt, in any case, thousands read the statements in the paper after his being charged with saying them, that never heard him state them, and didn't know if he had done it. May it not be that a man like "Bob" is a kind of safety valve for the rest of the populace who would like to say some of those things, but haven't the personal tenor of their way through this process of offending and "suffering" while "Bob" comes at all these prepared to carry it.

SPECIAL RATES

In humor, it used to be said of Henry Ford that he had made walking popular. But it remains for the Southern Pacific and ocean transportation lines between San Francisco and Los Angeles to propose as a trial a rate between here and the Bay City that will make riding cheaper than walking.

It is proposed that a rate for a few days be established for $10.00 for the round trip. We don't know what this is a test of. It certainly will not be of whether it would be profitable to reduce to this rate at all times. The number who will go under such conditions will be many times the number that would take the train regularly if the rate was even so low. It does seem that on steel rails carrying passengers wholesale or equipped to carry them in large numbers, that the rate could be made so low as to be cheaper than it could be possibly made by a man driving his own car that may only carry two and rarely over four. The railroads certainly have something to learn.

Henry Ford suggested some years ago that the difficulty lay in the weight of the rolling stock. If cars and locomotives could be reduced in weight so that several tons of steel did not need to be transported in order to carry 150 or 200 pounds a person, the railroads could compete with automobiles. We should like to see the railroads work out this problem. We are heartily for them and hope this experiment will be helpful. For long distances and for comfortable travel, we still are for the railroads, and we know that these comforts and conveniences cannot continually be furnished in as large measure unless patronage justifies the service.

In some sections of our country, service has been reduced to the extent that it militates greatly against those who use the railroad in preference to the automobile. But profits must be looked after, and profits are only possible in our transportation system when operating for large numbers.

THE MOST COSTLY SEPARATION

Mrs. Evelyn Marshall Field, wife of the grandson of the more famous Chicago merchant, is headed for Reno and the divorce court. It is all agreeable apparently. The finances have been divided up. She gets the children, their three million dollar home and a million dollars a year alimony.

Now, if this is the price that Field is paying for her getting a divorce, and it is worth it, it holds the record. We wonder if he has anything left. Mrs. Field will be well protected. We can well imagine the settlement was made in lieu of possible publicity of matters that might be brought out in a court fight.

Divorces are on the increase. In reading the story of the agreement of this pair, we can see there is at least one reason.

International Business May Unite All Europe

A foreign correspondent writes that if Europe ever realizes Briand's dream of a United States of Europe, it will be accomplished through business machinery already in operation rather than political machinery. He refers particularly to cartels.

The cartel, as recently developed, is a trade agreement by which different business groups or countries adjust production of any commodity among themselves and divide the market. For instance, the international entente for the production of raw steel, established in 1925, partitions steel production among France, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia, Austria and Hungary on the basis of the 1925 business. There are powerful international cartels controlling steel rails, tubes, aluminum, chemicals, rayon and other commodities, and even a cartel governing transportation, embracing Germany, Austria, Scandinavia, Finland, Great Britain, Holland, Italy and Yugoslavia.

This device obviously leads to economic internationalism. It may be so far.

One scout may be the definite lining up of Europe against America in competition for world markets. Yet American capital, too, is involved in some of the cartels.

They have at least this general benefit—they operate for peace.

Have You a Radio?

Oakland Tribune

There has been some tribulation all along that when Uncle Sam, through his census enumerators, asked you if you owned a radio he was not interested in distant stations picked up or experience with the troublesome static.

One theory has been that the government is turning over the possibility of the arrival of a day when a Federal program, with a tax on each set after the manner of England—would be advisable in this country. Such, says Robert P. Lamont, secretary of commerce, is not the case.

The census of radio receivers will aid the government in guiding channel allocations. Mr. Lamont pointed out that with this information at hand, the commission will be far better enabled to distribute broadcasting facilities and apportion power to serve the maximum public interest, and at the same time keep within the limitations of radio facilities among the states and among the five radio zones into which the country is divided according to population.

"So far as I am aware there is no intention of taxing users of receiving sets as is generally done in foreign countries," the General added. "I know of nothing to connect this radio enumeration with taxation."

Importance of Mining
Riverside Daily Press

Mining, second to none in the prosperity of this country, contributed a lion's share in 1929, says the Mining Congress Journal.

Copper went over its war peak record; iron had one of the greatest years in its history; lead and zinc maintained a value that average performance; gold and silver fared reasonably well. We produced $22,000,000 tons of coal, and the non-metallic industries showed a decided upward trend. Good dividends were paid. Production was fairly steady and thousands of workers were employed at high wages.

There is a persistent effort on the part of all branches of the industry to maintain a fair level during the current year. That means in research the new methods, discover production methods, greater utilization, and other ways. Mining will do its part for the nation's prosperity.

A "Phoenix" Out of the Ashes!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

'WARE THE BEARS

Behind the white syringas
Which bloom across the way
There may be lairs of grizzly bears
That sleep throughout the day.
They wander forth at twilight
Devouring whom they will,
Yet no one cares about those bears
Excepting little Bill.

He says that he has heard them
At night when he's in bed;
He's heard them roam around his home
With slow and heavy tread.
And he is rather troubled
Lest some day they will creep
Amid the gloom up to his room
And eat him in his sleep.

Sometimes when he is older—
Say maybe nine or ten—
And hold of heart, he's going to part
The branches 'round their den.
And, rifle at his shoulder,
And with a fearless frown,
If they come out to prowling about
He'll shoot the creatures down.

But Bill is very little
And bears are very big.
And every night he shrinks with fright
To hear a snapping twig.
He's very sure they're leaving
Their lilac-hidden lairs,
And it is oh! so good to know
That Mother's just down stairs.

Unemployment Is a Permanent Problem

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WARREN CATCHINGS

How many men were unemployed last winter? Nobody knows.

What is the net result of all the efforts during the last ten years to stabilize employment? Nobody knows.

To what extent have the men been displaced by machines in old industries been absorbed in new industries? Nobody knows.

And what is more, nobody ever will know how to answer questions like these, unless we adopt some national system of recording and placing laborers, as is provided in one of the Wagner bills, now before Congress.

Meantime, we must use conjectures, based on partial data from a limited number of industries. A new and notable conjecture was published today in "Real Wages," a book by Paul H. Douglas.

In this book, Douglas brings together a mass of data concerning the four basic industries of manufacturing, transportation, construction and mining.

Douglas concludes that the average unemployment for the thirty years, 1897-1926 was 10.2 per cent. It is interesting to note that Horrell Hart, by a different method, arrived at almost the same estimate of unemployment for all "non-farm labor," for the years 1902-17.

According to Douglas, unemployment in these four industries ranged from 5.5 per cent in 1916 to 23.1 per cent in 1921. The numbers out of work varied from 569 thousand in 1902, to 2900 thousand in 1921.

There has been much discussion, during the past decade, of the efforts made by producers to stabilize employment. There has been almost unanimous agreement concerning the wisdom of preventing unemployment by increasing public building in times of special need.

Yet according to the new Douglas index, the average unemployment from 1920 to 1926, in the four basic industries, was 12.1 per cent. That is about 20 per cent above the average unemployment for the thirty year period, as a whole.

For the past decade, then, we have been contending, in these four basic industries, that unemployment is a PERMANENT problem, and yet we have been spending a lot of money to prevent it. That is the saddest thing that we have done since the war. The new Douglas index shows that it is the new book on "Real Wages."

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

NOTRE DAME GOES MODERN

High in the windswept towers of the historic cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris Victor Hugo's immortal Hunchback of Notre Dame rang his exquisite and enchanting bells.

Today a white-haired widow, Mme. Hebert, mothers and manages this famous battery of bells. For ten centuries these bells have rung out their Miserere or Magnificat as the French nation faced its hours of triumph or disaster, its times of joy or sorrow.

Mme. Hebert has loved and lingered over these historic bells for thirty years. Her husband was the last of the great race of ringers of bells in France.

Mme. Hebert has sat in her tower when Paris was drinking the wine of joy and watched the myriad millions of light make Paris a magic city by night; she has watched these lights go out when, in 1914, the enemy were at the gates; she has directed the ringing of the refrain that told the joy of Paris at the armistice; and she has made the tongues of these bells tell of France's love for the great Foch as he lay silent in death.

But now modernism invades the mediaeval mystery of the tower of Notre Dame and purposes to install electric ringers.

A flood of protest will doubtless follow. We will be told again that the machine is rubbing the world of poetry, and no device can take the place of M. and Mme. Hebert and other and lovelier ages.

I wonder! Would it have been better to have stuck to the Town Crier and stopped the development of the modern press? Would it have been better to have stuck to Old Dobbin and the One Horse Shay and stopped the development of the automobile and the fast express?

We have, for a time, lost much of the picturesque loveliness of many local customs and crafts, but humanity has, in the past, often paid a very high price for local color.

Even in the windswept towers of Notre Dame there is no reason why the modernism of the electric age should permanently dull the mystery and magic of the ceyrie bells of mediaevalism.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SOMEWHAT CONFUSED

Mothers are not to be blamed if they are somewhat confused by the battle of words that is waged about their heads as they grope for understanding in this matter of child training. Each school shouts aloud. Each seems to say, "Follow me and be saved."

They cannot all be right? Or can they? Is it safe to raise a child in freedom, or shall we abide by the old customs and decide what is best in our own way after our own fashion? As usual I take the middle of the road.

I do not believe that there is any one road that leads to salvation. Any road will do if it is the right one for the person who takes it. I am not begging the question. I am trying to make a rift in the fogs that are gathering about us who try to head children the right way.

There is a time in the early years when children learn to use language. Make the most of that time as it comes along and accent language teaching. There is a time, too, when memory, verbal memory is very strong. Use it for all it is worth and store up poems, rules, tables, the fundamentals of learning, what the teachers call "tool subjects," reading, writing, spelling, number and language rules. Hold the children to them in the early grades—usually the first three years of school.

There is a time when the children respond to rhythmic exercises of all sorts. Use that time for teaching lists of words, tables, dancing, singing, dramatics, health habits formed through daily rhythmic practices of one sort and another.

The way to get children to grow is by teaching them the things they need to know AT THE TIME WHEN THEY ARE BEST FITTED TO LEARN THEM. Work in season is never too much of a burden for the child to carry. The habits of work, the habit of performing the duty at hand to a high standard, is essential to the healthy mental and physical growth of children. To allow a period of growth to pass without utilizing it to its full is in my opinion, a great mistake.

It is a mistake to think that children can be turned loose in a school and told to help themselves. If they could do that, what would never have permitted parents a long life time. She tolerates older people because they are necessary for the support of the younger ones. We are permitted to live because we are useful to children. Then why not perform our function to its utmost?

Freedom means freedom from ignorance, not freedom from duty, not freedom from bonds of brotherhood imposed upon us in spiritual and physical laws. Freedom does not mean neglect of any kind. It means the higher development of every mind and body in the community. That is gain by increase of wisdom. And wisdom comes through interpreting life honestly, by facing it bravely, by living it in consecration to an ideal.

That is never easy. There are strict laws, strict standards, severe trials ahead for those who would know the joy of a free soul. School and home must understand this and work toward the freedom that is knowledge seasoned to wisdom.

THE FIRST INAUGURAL

On April 30, 1789, George Washington, after a triumphal trip northward from his home at Mount Vernon, was inaugurated first president of the United States on the balcony of Federal Hall, New York.

Washington was elected in January and was supposed to have begun his term from March 4. But there was such a delay in forming a quorum of Congress that the votes of the electoral college were not counted until early in April, when they were found to be unanimously in favor of Washington.

The delay apparently pleased Washington, for he wrote to General Knox: "The delay may be compared to a reprieve; for in confidence I tell you... that my movements to the chair of government will be accompanied by feelings not unlike those of a culprit, who is going to the place of his execution; so unwillingly am I, in the evening of a life nearly consumed in public cares, to quit a peaceful abode for an ocean of difficulties, without the competency of political skill, abilities and inclination which are necessary to manage the helm."
